DALTON LEADS IN THE RACE FOR ASSESSORSHIP

Gillett Piling Up Plurality in County With Signs of Big Victory.

Election is passing off quietly today, and reports from all over the county show that there has been few disturbances The indications are that the Republican ticket will be elected by a large majority, with but one or two exceptions The great contest in the county is over the office of County Assessor, with Henry P Dalton as Independent on one side and Charles E Thomas, Republican and Union Labor, as his opponent After a careful canvas of many of the precincts at noon today, it appeared that Mr Dalton was much in the lead and it is probable that he will be elected by a majority ranging from 2000 to 3500

The election is proceeding in an orderly manner and few workers are to be found at the polls throughout the county There are 166 precincts in Alameda county, in which forty-three voting machines are being used The ticket is a large one, and it is likely that it will be many hours before the complete returns can be tabulated after the polls are closed

The State ticket is running well throughout the county, and indications at noon today were that Mr Gillett would carry the county by from 3000 to 6000 votes The entire State ticket is running well in this district

HOW BALLOTS FALL.

An example of the vote that was cast up to 1 o'clock is as follows:

Fifth ward, seventh precinct 65 out of 176, fifth ward, sixth precinct, 64 out of 153, third ward, seventh precinct, 79 out of 199, fourth ward, twelfth precinct, 135 out of 306, fourth ward, eleventh precinct, 129 out of 290

All city offices were closed, with the exception of the police department

This department worked overtime last night, and, as a result, the prison was filled with men charged with drunkenness This morning the police judges did not hold court, but they released these men on their own recognizance, and thus allowed them to exercise their suffrages Chief of Police Wilson has fifteen extra men detailed to watch the booths These officers were selected from the retired list

PARDEE VOTES LATE

Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon Governor George C Pardee had not cast his ballot, although a registered voter of this county His voting precinct is the fourth ward, eleventh precinct Governor Pardee generally stays at the Hotel Metropole while in the city, but at the hotel this morning it was stated that no word had been received from the governor as to whether he would be in the city today

LIGHT IN THE SIXTH.

Voting was light in the Sixth ward this morning Of the 1322 voters registered in the five precincts less than 400 had cast their ballots at noon The heaviest voting was in the Eighth precinct at 565 Seventh street, where 100 voters out of 316 had filed their opinions at 11 30 o clock

The Ninth precinct on Fifth street, near Broadway had 65 out of 317 voted the Tenth precinct at Webster and Fifth streets had 37 out of 186 the Eleventh precinct at Harrison and Fifth had 72 out of 233 and the Twelfth precinct at 154 Seventh street, had 84 out of 270

There was some excitement at the Eleventh precinct when Loung You King a well known Chinese sport and his friend Wuey Jung Bang entered the polling place and asked for a ballot The clerks made a search of the lists and to their astonishment found that they were entitled to vote being native born Chinese King lives at No 1 Ming alley and Bang has a home at 269 Second street

BARNET SURPRISED.

Sheriff Frank Barnet announced at noon that he was surprised at the light number of votes that were cast in the city during the morning but that he was confident of success

Deputy County Clerks A E Johnstone Harry Baker Charles Lee and J R Ford were kept on the jump at the Hall of Records by a swarm of disgruntled voters who through clerical errors were either not down on the registration list or were placed in the wrong precinct Carl Berlin a fruitraiser who has voted for twenty-two years in Fruitvale appeared at the county clerk s office shortly after ten o clock and swore that he would never vote again unless his registration was straightened out Although he and his son live in the same house both were sent to different polling booths. Berlin when registering said that he lived on the north side of School street while his son said he lived on the south side

Those whose names could not be found on the register were supplied with the following credentials

"Oakland Cal Nov 6 1906

To the Election Officers of the——Precinct —— township Gentlemen—Through a clerical error the name of ———— whose residence is ———— was omitted from the printed index to the Great Register of ———— precinct Inasmuch as he was registered in time to have his name so entered he is entitled to vote at the election to be held on Nov 6th, in this precinct upon presentation of this certificate I enclose herewith his affidavit of registration numbered ———— which you will please insert in the black book of affidavits

Witness my hand and seal this —— day of November, 1906

"JOHN P COOK, County Clerk"

SEVENTH WARD

Seventh ward, Precinct One — The voting in precinct one has been steady from the time polls opened this morning Out of 305 registered voters 133 cast their ballots before noon today The early hours brought something of a rush principally of workers It is likely that this precinct will run third in the Seventh ward in the number of votes cast There were fewer can-

CALIFORNIA POLLS HEAVY VOTE FOR GILLETT FOR GOVERNOR

Both Sides Make Claims of Majorities in Some Places. Republicans Hint at Colonization in the Vicinity of Stockton.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 6—Early afternoon indications are that Gillett will carry San Francisco by a safe plurality Voting is fairly heavy, especially in the Panhandle district, where efforts are being made to get out a full vote Langdon and Bell workers are everywhere active and claims of victory are freely made on both sides Order and quiet has prevailed, with the exception of a brief tumult at the booth at Sixteenth and Dolores street, where an attempt to create trouble in favor of no particular candidate was quickly stopped Abe Ruef and his henchmen were early in the field, and are untiring in their efforts to carry their slate. The fate of Judges Mogan Conlan and Cook is in doubt, although it looks as though the two first named would be beaten They are Ruef men, and, if defeated credit will rest with the machines At 2 o'clock Ruef declared he would elect every man he wanted Evidence of general scratching of ballots is the length of time voters take to prepare their ballots. Average time today is three minutes Last year few men were in the booths longer than a minute This means voters are casting ballots for the man and not for the party, and split tickets will be the rule

LOS ANGELES Nov 6—The usual perfect weather prevailed in Los Angeles today and a heavy vote will be cast In some precincts a large early vote was polled between a third and a half of the total registered vote being cast at those places before noon In others the vote was slower and a comparatively light early vote resulted

There were numerous straws indicating varying results but nothing accurate could be obtained to indicate the probable result Much scratching is being done but this is mostly on county and legislative tickets The nominations by the non-partisan committee will likely result in the defeat of at least two Republican candidates for the legislature

The ballot is a very large one, and the voting machines are not being used The count will consequently be slow Reports from precincts outside of the city show a heavy vote in the early morning hours A reliable report from San Pedro, where there is a large Union Labor Vote shows that at precinct No 1 in that city, out of a total of 85 votes, 65 had been cast for Langdon, 20 for Gillett and 5 for Bell

HEARST AND HUGHES BOTH CLAIM LONG END OF BIG VOTE

Wholesale Arrests Mark Battle of Ballots in Empire State.

NEW YORK, Nov 6—Weather conditions which could not be improved, together with an unusual interest in the contest between Charles E Hughes and William R Hearst, leading candidates for Governor, brought out an unprecedented large early vote in all sections of the State Advices from widely scattered districts detail without exception a flood of ballots during the morning hours, and in many places the full vote had been polled by noon today

REMARKABLY HEAVY VOTE.

New York City was no exception and except in scattered districts the forenoon voting was remarkably heavy In Brooklyn where Patrick H McCarren, the Democratic leader, has been making a determined and open fight against William R. Hearst there were indications that the regular Democratic voters were holding back early in the day Whether this was due to "orders" or because in many Brooklyn manufacturing establishments the employes are given afternoon rather than morning for voting, is not known

The fine weather which favored the voters seemed to please all the party leaders The Hughes managers called it "good Republican weather,' and declared that every hour made the prospects of their candidate more bright

EACH CLAIMS VICTORY.

On the other hand, Hearst managers professed to be fully as well satisfied as the Republicans They were sure that the farmer vote would help their cause This afternoon both the candidates were claiming victory by approximately 200,000 plurality each.

One of the features of the election was the extreme vigilance of officers at the polling places throughout this State In many towns and villages hordes of private detectives guarded every ballot-box to prevent illegal voting

200 ARRESTS MADE.

In New York City more than 200 arrests had been made before noon, but in nearly every case the prisoners were able to prove their right to vote and were released. Among those arrested were many well-known men, whose winter homes were found closed when the police sought to verify their registration. All of these were permitted to vote after proving their residence.

Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate for Governor, was one of the early voters, depositing his ballot about 8 o clock It was nearly five hours later when William R Hearst went to the polls

NO CHANCE TO VOTE.

There was much dissatisfaction among the street-car employes of Manhattan today because of a notice that appeared yesterday at the car barns of the New York City Railway company. The notice reads

No man will be excused tomorrow, November 6 Any man reporting sick or losing his car will be dismissed provided circumstances warrant it Any man losing his car will report to starter as soon as possible

'GEORGE LAIRD,

"General Division Foreman"

The men claim that this order will deny them an opportunity to vote, as they had to be on duty at 7 o clock this morning and will not be at liberty until after the polls are closed

NEW YORK, Nov 6—Exceptionally favorable weather conditions after a campaign of almost unprecedented activity on the part of the two leading candidates for gubernatorial honors, seems to insure an unusually large vote In this city the balloting started with a rush as soon as the polls were opened, and in many sections new records for the early hours were made. In one district in the Bronx 132 ballots were deposited in the first ninety minutes of voting

THOUSANDS ARRESTED.

Service of the thousands of warrants sworn out by Superintendent of Election Morgan was begun early in the day and there was a steady stream of prisoners from the polling places to the police courts

In nearly every case in the first three hours the prisoners proved their right to vote and were permitted to go back and deposit their ballots

Sixty arrests on charges of illegal voting and registration and offering and accepting money for votes were reported during the first two hours after the polls opened This is the greatest number of arrests reported in so short a time since the election bureau was established

Among the early morning arrests was former Police Captain Diamond. He voted from his home in East Eightieth street When the Morgan men went to verify the address they found the house boarded up The arrest was made on the allegation that Diamond had lived all summer in Putnam county, this state

ROCKEFELLER VOTES.

John D Rockefeller was among the early voters He reached the polling place in Sixth avenue at 6 20 o clock and deposited his ballot two minutes later

'What do you think of the election?" he was asked.

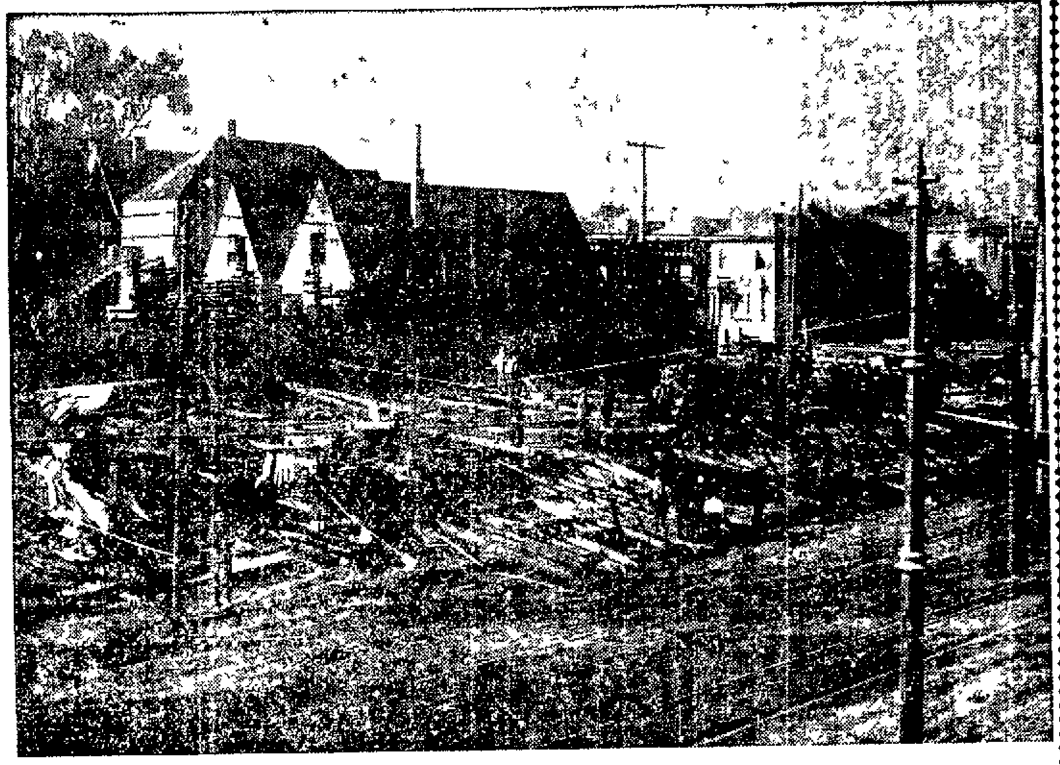
AUTOS BLOWN UP AS FIERCE FLAMES REACH OIL TANKS



PHOTOGRAPH OF GARAGE DESTROYED BY FIRE AT TWELFTH AND OAK LAST NIGHT

Twenty-Five Machines, Big Garage and the Adjoining Cottages Are Burned in Night Conflagration at a Loss Exceeding $100,000.

A disastrous fire with waste oil and gasoline to feed it last night destroyed the plant and building of the Pioneer C[illegible] Company at Twelfth and Madison streets as well as twenty-five automobiles making a total loss of $100 000

THREE AUTOS SAVED

The blaze spread quickly and two cottages adjoining the building were partially burned Explosions of the gasoline tanks in several of the automobiles added to the size of the fire

[illegible] the progress of the flames so rapid that only three automobiles were removed from the garage before the large building was a mass of flames As the tongues of fire shot up to the air the gasoline tanks in the numerous automobiles exploded throwing sheets of metal and pieces of tin far high in the air

At the side of the building was a large gasoline storage tank and the firemen who fought the flames took their lives into their hands when they entered the burning structure but although the building was reduced to ashes this gasoline tank remained intact

CAUSE OF FIRE

The fire resulted from the breaking up of a sewer The main ran underneath the building the entrance being directly beneath the open space used by employes to clean the automobiles A man employed in washing a machine dropped a lighted match into the sewer and the next instant a sheet of flame shot into the air

Within three minutes the entire one hundred and fifty square feet of building was in flames Oiled floors numerous gasoline tanks and oil soaked rags were ready food to the flames which spread and consumed with amazing rapidity

The fire department was called out but the best efforts of the firemen were futile against the ravages of the flames What it was powerless to check the conflagration The firemen devoted their energies to saving the adjoining dwellings and in this they were remarkably successful

The home of J Somps at 1061 Madison street and Mrs Laville next door were burning Mrs Somps was asleep with her two little children when the conflagration started She was rescued by Policeman Tillitson who was one of the first on the scene and who did heroic work in saving property

$200 IN GOLD LOST

All the furniture was removed from the two homes and the damage to the cottages will not exceed $4000 On the piano in the home of Mrs Somps was a purse containing $200 in gold and during the confusion this was lost

The loss of the garage building the machinery in it and the twenty-five automobiles stabled in it will total fully $100 000 The loss is divided among as many individuals as a majority of the destroyed automobiles were but stabled in the garage

The garage was conducted and owned by W J Ireling, H A Duckworth and A T Brock

Of the three automobiles that were saved one was owned by Robert Barnett and the other by James Cogswell Barnett was just coming into the garage when the fire started and quickly backed his machine out of the structure Cogswell's machines were close to the door and for this reason were easily taken out

Among those who lost machines were E S Smiley Pope Hartford C C Clay Winton McFall Stevens Duryea W R Hume Stevens-Duryea R L Morris Mitchell Dave Reed of Stockton Winton Douglas Allen Rambler L C Cary Oldsmobile V S Hardy, Cadillac Charles Bates Maxwell Dave McLaughlin Mitchell Earl Beatty Maxwell Branson Packard Charles Hudson Reo Sly of San Jose Packard Tutt of San Jose Autocar

The register was destroyed and it was impossible to secure a full list of the machines in the garage The garage was fully insured The machinery and equipments were partially insured

SUSPICIONS OVER A FIRE

Man Believes Effort Was Made to Burn Down His Home

That an attempt was made last night to burn down his home is the belief of B Forkland residing at 1[illegible] Nineteenth avenue Fire was discovered in one of the bedrooms of his home by Forkland late last night and was extinguished after the curtains and furniture had been badly burned Forkland notified the authorities of his suspicions

Policeman [illegible] was detailed to investigate the case but could find no clew to the [illegible] who started the fire There were evidences of an attempt to start the fire Some old rags saturated with oil were found under the window of the room in which the fire was discovered

Forkland declares that he knows of no one who would want to injure him or his family but confirms his suspicion by saying that he heard footsteps [illegible] the house as he woke up and found the house filled with smoke

FALLS 400 FEET DOWN SHAFT AND WILL LIVE

POTTSVILLE Pa Nov 6—While hunting pheasants today Joseph Schrader, aged 22 years son of a prominent Reading Company official, fell 400 feet down an old mine shaft and was brought forth alive after lying nearly twelve hours in the black depths Both hips are dislocated and he sustained other hurts which are not believed to be of a fatal character

Schrader and two other gunners left their homes early this morning, and while roaming over the mountains between Middleport and Tumbling run the former stumbled into an old mine drift Lighting a match he called on his companions to follow him in its exploration

He had taken hardly a half-dozen steps when, with a cry of surprise, he fell into the yawning chasm of an old interior shaft His companions called to him, and heard his faint reply far below They knew that he was alive, and went to Middleport and Pottsville for assistance

The depth of the shaft was unknown and it was necessary to go for more rope several times and to splice it before the young man was reached This occupied the whole day The air was so foul at the bottom of the shaft that miners of the rescue force had to give up twice, but they persevered until the young man was brought to the surface, he calling to them frequently until they located him

How he survived the foul air is a mystery The doctors say that he may be crippled for life, but he will live. Schrader said he thought weeks had passed during the long hours which he lay injured and alone at the bottom of the black abyss.

THE GREAT BATTLE OF BALLOTS BETWEEN HUGHES AND HEARST

CHARLES E. HUGHES (Republican) WILLIAM R. HEARST (Democratic)

New York State's Gubernatorial Candidates.

Big Vote Is Cast in New York

"I hope for the best," replied Mr. Rockefeller as he stepped into his automobile and was whirled away.

CANDIDATE HUGHES VOTES.

Charles E. Hughes, candidate for Governor, voted shortly before 8 o'clock in an Amsterdam avenue barber shop. Mr. Hughes walked down from his home in West Second avenue. He was greeted with a cheer as he approached the polling place and greeted the inspectors, clerks and watchers with a cheery "good morning."

Mr. Hughes was given ballot No. 148, which he took only a moment to mark in the booth. When he had voted, Mr. Hughes walked back to his home.

About ten minutes afterward, the candidate's father, Rev. D. C. Hughes, who lives with his son, came into the polling place and voted.

In this district there are about 600 voters, and the vote was reported to be coming in at the rate of 75 ballots an hour.

CLAIMS OF HEARST.

W. R. Hearst sent the following telegram early today to the State committeemen of the Independence League.

"We will have at least 200,000 plurality in Greater New York. I feel that our chances up the state are very bright, thanks to your efforts and the efforts of our friends.

"There is only one possible danger and that is that an attempt may be made to count us out up the state as they counted us out in this city last fall. I urge you to take extraordinary precautions to prevent repeating and miscounting.

"I thank you for your valuable aid in this campaign and I congratulate you on the victory that I firmly believe we will achieve."

LARGE VOTE POLLED.

Dispatches from cities and towns up the state indicate that a large vote is being polled. Everywhere the weather is favorable and the roads are in fine condition.

As the forenoon wore on balloting throughout the city continued with unabated strength. This was particularly noticeable in the so-called "silk-stocking" neighborhood.

In the Thirteenth Election District of the Twenty-ninth Assembly District, 201 out of a total registration of 547 had been polled up to 9 o'clock.

Reports from fifteen districts covering Madison, Fifth avenue and Lexington avenues to the east and south of Central Park showed that about one-third of the total vote had been cast before 9 o'clock.

General canvass of the Twelfth Assembly District, Charles F. Murphy's district, showed that nearly one-half the total registered vote had been cast before 9 o'clock.

WEALTHY VOTERS ARRESTED.

That the party watchers and election officials are extremely vigilant today was evident from the moment the polls opened. In Manhattan alone one hundred and fifteen arrests had been reported up to 9:30 o'clock.

A remarkable feature of these incidents was the unusual number of members of well-known and wealthy families who were arrested and forced to prove their residence in court before being permitted to deposit their ballots.

PARKER STANDS IN LINE.

Alton B. Parker was obliged to stand in line more than fifteen minutes before he received his ballot. Standing in the line at the same time were John D. Rockefeller Jr., H. McK. Twombley and Harry Payne Whitney. J. P. Morgan joined the line at 10:15 and deposited his ballot ten minutes later.

"FRAUD IS RAMPANT."

The Independence League today issued a statement that reports received from State Committeeman Myers "indicate that fraud is rampant in Herkimer county."

Mr. Myers has wired Mr Ihmsen from Little Falls stating that in the town of Gray alone the registration has been increased from 117 last year to 257 this year. Warrants are now being procured and all who are illegally registered will be arrested.

IN FAVOR OF HEARST.

"Early reports received from Independence League state committeemen in the great up-state manufacturing centers indicate an enormous early morning vote which is believed to be for Hearst. Every report thus far received gives indication that labor is standing solidly behind Mr. Hearst."

BALLOTS ARE MIXED.

Clarence J. Shearn, who was in charge of the watchers for the Independence League, said he received reports from his agents showing that the supply of ballots had been mixed in forty-one election districts in Greater New York, the election of officers of one district receiving the ballots printed for another district.

Mr. Shearn said that at least one hundred ballots for local candidates would be void on account of this mistake, but that it would not affect the head of the ticket.

HUGHES IS WAITING.

"I am making no prophesies," said Mr. Hughes, after voting today. "I am content to wait until the vote is counted. I am, indeed, thankful that the strain of the campaign is over. It has been a most strenuous one. I have a great deal of work on my hands which my campaigning has prevented me attending to."

William R. Hearst voted just before 1 o'clock at an undertaker's shop. He voted ballot number 116. On the way to the polling place he was repeatedly cheers.

Mr. Hearst said he would remain in his home all the afternoon resting and gave the newspapermen who had been waiting for him the run of the house.

VICTIMS OF ROUGHS.

"It's such a fine day," said Mr. Hearst, "that I don't want any one to be waiting for me outside my doors."

While driving in a closed carriage at Columbia and Livingston streets, Mr. Schoenfeld, manager for the Hughes volunteer campaigners, and his son, Abraham, were attached by a gang of roughs, who threw rocks and bricks at the carriage. One brick came through the glass window and smashed Mr. Schoenfeldt's hat.

At the same time Samuel Maltz, a Republican worker, was attacked while standing near the carriage and beaten about the head.

ROOSEVELT CASTS BALLOT, CHEERED BY HIS NEIGHBORS

OYSTER BAY, Nov. 6.—President Roosevelt, accompanied by Secretary Loeb and Postmaster-General Cortelyou, arrived here at 9:10 a. m., and was greeted by a big crowd. He stopped at the railroad station long enough to shake hands with most of those present, and was then driven in a carriage to the polling place over a Chinese laundry in East Main street. After shaking hands with each of the election officers, he received ballot 94 and soon cast it. While Secretary Loeb was voting the president chatted with some of the villagers. He then shook hands with nearly every one present, and was taken for a drive out toward Sagamore Hill.

The President and Mrs. J. West Roosevelt took a drive about the village, stopping frequently to allow the President to greet neighbors. The President's train left Oyster Bay at 10:30 a. m.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—"Get out the vote" is the command for today from political generals throughout the country. Lack of interest in the election is reported from many sections. This condition necessitates hard work at the polls and the assurance of favorable weather in the greater portion of the country is welcomed by all contending parties. Decided uncertainty in the result is the feature of the closing campaign from nearly every quarter. This uncertainty was manifested in New York, Pennsylvania, Chicago and other sections by a vigorous continuance of the campaign until midnight last night.

HUGHES AND HEARST.

Messrs. Hughes and Hearst continued their terrific speaking records up to the last minute.

President Roosevelt's last act in the campaign was to telegraph his son-in-law, Representative Longworth, in Cincinnati, yesterday to have portions of Secretary Root's Utica speech printed, that the president's desire for a Republican victory in Ohio would not be misunderstood.

The president left at midnight for Oyster Bay, where he will vote. He will return to Washington today.

Mr. Bryan, who has been an active campaigner, concluded with a speech in behalf of the fusion ticket at Plattsmouth, Neb., yesterday.

Speaker Cannon, who has averaged two speeches a day during the greater part of the campaign, is in Danville, his home.

Vice-President Fairbanks, as well as the majority of the members, are at their voting residences today.

LACK OF PASSES.

The number of Washington voters who have gone to their homes today is smaller than for a decade. The absence of railroad passes is given as a reason. New York voters resident in the District of Columbia, however, have shown a greater interest and a large proportion have gone to their homes.

Reports from "the Solid South" indicate little interest and the necessity of stimulating the voting.

Missouri and Tennessee present interesting situations and both parties conclude the campaign with confident predictions of success.

SOCIALIST PARTY CLAIMS.

In Montana the Socialist party makes confident claims of increasing their vote 6000 over last year, and both the Republicans and Democrats claim the State.

The earthquake in San Francisco is said to have so redistributed the population of the State that old estimates cannot be relied on.

Massachusetts kept the fight warm until the last minute and Boston was the midnight battle ground between Guild and Moran, the respective candidates of the Republicans and Democrats for governor.

In New York city and Chicago the ballots are ponderous with the prospect of many scratches. A long delay in arriving at results is predicted.

LATEST ELECTION BULLETINS

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—For Governor, 6 out of 54 cities and towns gave Guild (R.) 781; Moran (D.) 399.

Same in 1905 gave Guild (R.) 674; Bartlett (D.) 356.

This shows a Republican gain of 16 per cent; a Democratic gain of 14.

Ten out of 54 cities and towns give Guild (R.) 1320; Moran (D.) 610. Same cities and towns in 1905 gave Guild (R.) 1150, Bartlett (D.) 588.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—The first 5 towns out of 253 cities and towns to report on the vote for Governor gave Guild (R.) 609; Moran (D.) 212. The same towns last year gave Guild (R.) 501; Bartlett (D.) 179. These figures show a Republican gain of 108 and a Democratic gain of 33, or a net Republican gain of 75.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—The second of the 253 cities and towns in Massachusetts to report on the election was Hanover, which showed big gains for both Guild and Moran as compared with figures of one year ago. The vote was:

Guild (R.), 225, Moran (D.), 87.

The Governorship vote a year ago was: Guild, 152, Bartlett, 42.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—The first town in Massachusetts to be heard from in today's election was Mashpee, in the fourteenth congressional district, which cast 48 votes for Guild (R.), for Governor, to 3 for Moran (D.). Last year's vote for Governor was. Guild (R.), 43; Bartlett (D.), 7.

IN MONTANA.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 6.—Election day dawned clear and cool and contrary to yesterday's prediction the weather favors the polling of a full vote. Both Republicans and Democrats are claiming the election of Congressman and Supreme Court Justice. The leaders of both parties claim a working majority in the Legislature. Reports from so-called "cow" counties indicate a heavy Republican vote while the outcome in Butte and other mining towns will be complicated.

IN ARIZONA.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 6.—Weather generally in Arizona is ideal and a large vote is expected, unusual interest being taken in the election which will determine whether Arizona shall be joined with New Mexico as a State.

IN IDAHO.

BOICE, Idaho, Nov. 6.—The weather could not be finer. Republicans admit that their mapority in this county is likely to be wiped out by the gubernatorial fight.

IN NEVADA.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 6.—Election day is clear and cold. A heavy vote is expected to be polled. Betting has changed to even money on the fight for Governor.

L. M. Sullivan, a Goldfield man, arrived here last night with $50,000 of Sparks money, all of which was taken in an hour.

Bartlett, Democrat, is expected to defeat Smith, Republican. A large number of new voters in the State makes a prediction of the result of the election difficult.

The heaviest vote ever polled at this time in fifteen years in this State has already been polled. The day is ideal. Betting odds have switched and now all candidates are even money. This means Republicans have taken new hope.

IN UTAH.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 6.—Instead of the rain predicted yesterday fair weather prevails throughout Utah and a heavy vote is being polled. In Salt Lak City, where the fight is between Mormons and anti-Mormons, and in Ogden, a large percentage of the vote was polled before 10 o'clock this morning. Voting machines are being used for the first time in both cities.

VOTE IN CONCORD.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 6.—The weather was clear and fine. An unusually large early vote was polled, with the indications that a heavy off-year vote would be cast.

IN NEW HAVEN.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 6.—Fine weather greeted the voters of Connecticut today and the indications are that the vote will be heavy.

EXCITING STRUGGLE.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 6.—Perfect weather favored the State elections today. Besides the vigorous campaign waged by Governor Utter Republican, who is seeking re-election, and Mayor Higgins, his Democratic opponent, the struggle for the control of the State legislature, which will choose a successor to Senator Wetmore, was expected to arouse the voters from the usual off-year apathy.

LEADERS OPTIMISTIC.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—The weather was ideal for election. This, with the extraordinary campaign that has been waged, points to the casting of a heavy vote throughout the state. The keen interest in the contest is between Governor Guild and John B. Moran, the heads of the Republican and Democratic tickets respectively, and seems to make the leaders of both parties optimistic.

CHEYENNE VOTING.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 6.—Election day opened with a chilly wind, but clear. A heavy vote is being cast, and indications are that nearly the full vote will be polled in this city.

HEAVY VOTE IN RENO.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 6, 10 a. m.—Reports from the interior of the State show that a heavy vote is being polled and that almost the entire registration will be voted before the polls close. Socialists seem to be making heavy inroads on Democrats in mining camps of the south. The day is ideal throughout the state.

TOTAL VOTE SMALLER.

DENVER, Nov. 6.—Weather conditions throughout Colorado are favorable for polling a large vote, and the early voting is generally reported to be lively. The total vote at this election, however, will probably be smaller than two years ago, as 20,000 names, many of which were formerly voted by repeaters, have been eliminated from the Denver lists.

OFFICERS CLASH.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Clashes occurred today between Democratic policemen and Republican deputy sheriffs in Williamson, and many of each faction are in jail. Three companies of militia are still under orders here, but it is believed they will not be sent to Williamson.

IN WASHINGTON.

SEATTLE, Nov. 6.—Reports from all parts of the State show that it is raining throughout Western Washington and that a high wind prevails along the Columbia river and in the southwest. The campaign has been apathetic and this severe weather will have a serious effect upon the total vote cast. In eastern Washington the weather is good.

FEARS BEING REALIZED

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6.—The fears of the campaign managers of both parties are being realized today in the small vote cast in many election precincts over the State. The weather is ideal for work in the cornfields, and the vote in the agricultural district will be light. In the cities and large towns an average vote is being polled.

LACK OF INTEREST.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6.—The vote throughout the State up to 10 o'clock had been light owing to lack of interest in many sections. In most of the districts the straight tickets were voted, but in others where factionalism exists there was considerable splitting. Weather cloudy.

HEAVY EARLY VOTE.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 6.—Mild weather greeted the early voters in St. Paul and Minneapolis and brought out a heavy early vote.

IN DES MOINES.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 6.—Fair and warm weather brought out a heavy early vote today.

LARGE VOTE EXPECTED.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 6.—The weather in Oklahoma and Indian Territory was fair and warm and everything favors a large vote.

PITTSBURG POLLS.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 6—Mild temperature and a heavy fog with promise of a fair day marked the opening of the polls in this city. A large early vote was polled.

CHICAGO VOTERS SLOW.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—A clear sky and Indian-summer temperature greeted the voters of Illinois today, and the indications are that the greater portion of the entire registration will be cast several hours before the polls close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. There are seven different sets of candidates to be voted for. A great deal of interest was attached to the legislative vote, as the next legislature will name a successor to United States Senator Cullom.

In Chicago the voters cast their ballots for a full set of county officers and judges of the new municipal court, which takes the place of police courts throughout the city.

The great size of the ballot and the amount of scratching done made the voting very slow. Some of the voters were in the booths for thirty minutes marking their ballots, indicating late returns.

ELECTION IN DETROIT.

DETROIT, Nov. 6.—Election day in Detroit is mild and foggy. There was much interest and a good early vote was cast. Reports from the State tell of generally fine weather all over Michigan and a fair vote is being polled.

SOUTH DAKOTA HEAVY.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 6.—Throughout South Dakota good weather prevails and quite a heavy early vote was cast.

IN NORTH DAKOTA.

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 6.—Warm and cloudy and showery weather prevails all over the State. Farmers cannot work in the fields and a big vote is being cast. This is regarded as favorable to the Republican ticket.

VOTERS OUT EARLY.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—The indications this morning were that the full registered vote will be cast today. The local interest was intense and an unusually large number of voters were out early. The weather is fair.

Dispatches from cities and towns in Ohio indicate that a large vote was polled in the early hours of the day.

MUCH SCRATCHING.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—Meager early reports from the State indicate that the fine weather prevailing has brought out a heavy vote, but considerable scratching is being done. There are four tickets in the field. The polls throughout the State close at sundown.

INDIANAPOLIS' VOTE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—Owing to the use of voting machines in this county and a reduced number of precincts, together with fine weather, an early and heavy vote was cast. Fine weather in Indiana brought out an unexpectedly heavy vote.

NEGROES DISSATISFIED.

TOPEKA, Nov. 6.—The weather in this section of Kansas is fair, and voters thronged the polling places early. In this city a heavy vote is being cast, and from the best information possible, the vote is about equally divided between the two candidates for governor. The negroes are dissatisfied, and many are boasting of voting the straight Democratic ticket.

IN KANSAS CITY.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 6.—Warm weather prevailed this morning and a heavy early vote was polled.

LOUISVILLE VOTE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—Beautiful weather brought out a large vote in Louisville. Interest is intense.

SLIGHT INTEREST.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 6.—The weather here is clear and warm, but

ATLANTA PROSPECTS.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 6.—The weather here is clair and warm, but the prospects of a heavy vote generally is small.

SMALL EARLY VOTE.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 6.—There are indications of rain. Only a small early vote was polled.

IN MONTGOMERY, ALA.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 6.—Indications point to a light vote, and the success of the entire Democratic State and congressional ticket. The weather is fair.

LIGHT VOTE IN JACKSON.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 6.—The weather is fine. There is little interest, and the vote over the State will be light.

REPUBLICANS ACTIVE.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 6.—A large vote is not expected to be polled in Texas today. Weather fine. Republican workers are active in their duties.

NO GREAT INTEREST.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 6.—Election day opened with an ideal temperature. No great interest was displayed.

IN RICHMOND, VA.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 6.—Weather today is ideal. Indications are that 75 per cent of the registered vote will be cast throughout the State.

CHARLESTON, S. C.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 6.—Fair and warm weather marked the opening of election day. There was no general interest in the voting.

FIRST UNDER NEW LAW.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 6.—The voting here today was the first under the new registration law. Weather fair and warmer.

DOZEN ARRESTS ALREADY.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 6.—A heavy vote has been polled in this city and throughout the State early today. In Newark there were a dozen arrests for illegal registration before 10 o'clock.

MORMONS IN IDAHO.

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 6.—Reports from over the State show unusual interest in the election. In the Mormon counties many voters failed to register, owing to the threat to challenge Mormon voters. There is no excitement at the voting places.

IN DELAWARE.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 6.—Better election-day weather never was known in Delaware than that which prevailed today. There is little doubt that the full registered vote will be polled.

LITTLE INTEREST.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—Generally clear and bracing weather favored election day in Maryland. There was little interest.

HEAVY VOTE INDICATED.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—The intense interest in the election in this city had the effect of bringing out an unusually heavy early vote throughout the city. The weather is perfect. Early reports show that Edwin S. Stuart, Republican candidate for governor, is running ahead of the local Republican ticket. Reports from all parts of the State indicate a heavy vote.

ACCUSE POLICE AT ELECTIONS

Four Officers of Law Arrested at McCreary's Instance in Keentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 6.—Four policemen were arrested early today on warrants sworn out by McCreary adherents, charging obstruction and interfering with voters.

Other warrants for illegal voting have been prepared by the same men.

DEMOCRATS ENJOY OWN WAY IN FLORIDA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 6.—The weather is fine, but the vote is light. There is no opposition to Democratic nominees.

CABINET MEMBERS CAST THEIR BALLOTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Following the example of President Roosevelt, nearly all the members of his cabinet voted in their respective states at today's election.

didates and less electioneering in evidence in this precinct than any other.

SECOND PRECINCT.

There were fewer votes cast in this precinct than in any other at noon today. This is in part due to the fact that the registration is less, only 162 names, whereas every other precinct in Ward Seven has over 200. Of the 162 voters 69 cast ballots this forenoon. The voting was regular, although slower towards noon.

Third precinct.—In the Third precinct 114 of the 287 registered voters had voted this forenoon. First among them all was John B. Cook, present County Clerk and candidate for re-election. Mr. Cook's friends were strong, chief among them Paul Wuthe, deputy in the County Clerk's office.

J. J. Scrivener, Democratic candidate for Superior Judge, cast his ballot early.

FOURTH PRECINCT.

In the Fourth precinct, 130 voters were disposed of this forenoon. There are 248 registered in the precinct. George Pierce, up for Auditor, and J. C. Downey, running for State Board of Equalization, voted at 7 a. m. Both were warmly greeted by their friends, who expect victories for their pet candidates. The voters came steadily enough, although there was no rush at any time.

SIXTH PRECINCT.

The Sixth precinct, one of the smaller in number of voters, had received 77 votes out of the 203 registered, at 11:30 a. m. Among these Paul Wuthe of the County Clerk's office cast his ballot early in the day. The balloting was slow all day.

Seventh precinct—The Seventh was not faster in returns than the sixth only 68 votes being cast this morning out of 207 names on the register.

EIGHTH PRECINCT.

The Eighth precinct was far in the lead of the Twenty-third avenue district, with 116 votes cast this morning. There are 250 registered voters in this precinct.

NINTH PRECINCT.

In the Ninth, also at Twenty-third avenue, there were 81 votes cast this morning, with 205 names registered.

TENTH PRECINCT.

In the Tenth, 94 voters came and went their way. It is expected that nearly, if not all, of the 274 registered men will vote. George Pierce was at the polls this morning. No other candidates were seen there before noon.

ELEVENTH PRECINCT.

In the Eleventh, the second largest vote in the Seventh ward was cast. Out of 370 registered, 120 voted before noon, and the steady line of voters held on well. Tom Carroll, the big constable in Brooklyn township, was much interested in the result here. It is freely stated in the neighborhood that $1800 was raised in Brooklyn township to defeat Carroll. The latter however, is confident, relying on the votes in Fruitvale and Elmhurst to retain him in his office.

TWELFTH PRECINCT.

Over 200 votes were cast in the Twelfth precinct before noon. This is the largest precinct in the ward, with 327 names on the roster. Judge Wm. Geary, Justice of the Peace in Brooklyn township, voted early in the morning. The Pierce brothers were engaged in the transportation business carrying voters to the polls to swell the majority George Pierce expects to get in his home ward.

IN BERKELEY.

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—Difficulty with the voting machines will cause a much lighter vote in Berkeley than has been looked for. This will tend very much to lessen the vote Charles E. Thomas will poll in Berkeley. Dalton is giving Thomas a great battle here.

Until today it was confidently believed that at least 4500 votes would be polled in the college town, but it is now known that it will be scarcely possible for the number of ballots cast to reach 4000. The final results will probably show this to be an over-estimate, and the number may be as low as 3500.

Many people entered the booths this morning with the intention of voting before leaving for San Francisco, but when they found that many of the voters were taking almost the limit of their time in learning how to use the machines, abandoned their attempts.

At the downtown precincts, much less than half of the registration had been voted, and it is considered that most of those who intend to vote had done so at noon. An instance is the polling place on the south side of Shattuck between Center and Allston way. Up to noon 121 votes had been cast, though registration showed 278. At the polling place at the corner of Shattuck and Center 86 votes had been cast, with a remainder of 172 to vote.

IN ALAMEDA.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 6.—A heavy vote is characterizing election day in Alameda. At 8 o'clock this morning, in the sixteen precincts, 1600 votes had been cast, and at noon today the total vote was near the 2000 mark. It is expected that of the 4000 votes regisered about 3500 will be cast.

The friends of Charles W. Heyer, the Democratic candidate for supervisor of the Second District, are working actively and it is believed he will poll a large vote in Alameda. Rev. Franklin Rhoda is well represented in those working at the election booths in the Second District.

James W. Gillogly, the Alameda city clerk, who is a candidate for the county clerkship, is expected to go out of Alameda with a handsome majority. The only indication of election day, other than the tents placed abou the city, is the closing of the saloons.

EVIDENCE OF FRAUD IS REPUBLICAN CLAIM

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Nov. 6.—Two hundred carbon envelopes, which it is asserted by Republican leaders, were used today by Democratic workers in buying votes, are in the possession of the Board of Police Commissioners, and it is asserted that they were found at one of the Democratic headquarters and confiscated.

What Do You Think of This

Were You One of the Thousands that Attended?

If any believes that the man who advertises is throwing his money away just listen to Mr Coates's interesting story of a little incident that happened [illegible] last Saturday night The well known firm of Braley & Grote have introduced a novel feature in Oakland that has come to stay and is appreciated by hundreds of the readers of THE TRIBUNE Immediately upon the opening of their large store at Sixteenth and Broadway they began a campaign of popularizing their place through the placing on sale of articles of daily use at cost price

These sales have been attended by hundreds every time they were announced and newspapers watched with undisputed interest the developments since their claims of circulation were put to a final test on these special Saturday night sales

THE TRIBUNE has always contended to advertisers that any article of merit advertised at special prices will bring ready response But the climax was reached last Saturday evening November 3 when by actual count this firm sold 1000 teapots as advertised and again THE TRIBUNE is rejoicing with the advertisers that shrewd buyers watch newspaper specials

SUPREME COURT EDICT ON WEARING OF CORSETS

COMFORT FOR ACTRESSES, MODELS AND BALL PLAYERS

THIS FAIR ONE HAS NO EQUAL

Employers Thought Her Loss Was Equal to That of $10,000.

Actresses who refuse to wear tights models who are fickle over the style of their front lace corsets and baseball players who are given to jumping contracts can find much consolation in a decision handed down by the Iowa Supreme Court Of course, the serious minded Supreme Judges do not manifest an intimate knowledge of the ways of chorus girls corset models or ballplayers but the highest court in Iowa is "with them on the subject of professional contracts Pretty show girls may jump from one opera to another and shapely models may wear a dozen different kinds of corsets a week, regardless of contracts for aught the Supreme Court of Iowa cares

No less distinguished an attorney than Congressman E H Hubbard of the Eleventh Iowa district argued the case before the Supreme Court that resulted in a decision which brings joy to the life of every actress corset model ballplayer and people of similar professional occupations in the State of Iowa The case was that brought by the Gossard Corset Company against its pretty model Helene C Crosby who jumped her contract with the Gossard Company at Sioux City and proceeded to demonstrate the glove like fit and shapeliness of another brand of corsets The Gossard Company at once sought to enjoin Helene from wearing or selling the other company's corsets and brought suit against her for $10 000 damages

NO ONE TO EQUAL HELENE

The Gossard Company claimed that it was not able to secure another woman in the whole world like Helene whose personal charms are thus set forth in its petition which Justice Weaver seems to take delight in repeating in his opinion which favors the aforesaid Helene who is thus described A saleswoman and demonstrator possessing high mental culture and refinement of strong and pleasing individuality good address prepossessing appearance striking physical development possessing a knowledge of physical culture and ability as a lecturer as well as the quality of high class salesmanship which characteristics accompaniments knowledge attainments and qualifications were and are possessed by the defendant in a marked degree

That is the reason the Gossard Company says it was reluctant to lose Helene For possessing these innumerable charms she was to be paid $30 a week the first year $35 a week the second year and $40 a week the third year of her employment She was also to have a liberal expense account in addition to this salary

When Helene gave up the Gossard corset and began to demonstrate "straight fronts' of another brand the Gossard Company professed to be greatly grieved The company not only wanted its Helene back if a court order could bring her, but also asked $10 000 damages for mental and financial suffering by her loss

Helene also had a grievance on her part and in explaining her reason for jumping the Gossard contract complained that "the company insisted upon her traveling with a man as advance agent who was a stranger to her and with whose character and reputation she was not acquainted This man does not however appear any further in the case according to the Supreme Court opinion

TALKS OF LILLIAN RUSSELL AND TIGHTS

It arriving at the opinion of the Supreme Court that Helene should not be compiled to demonstrate Gossard corsets if she did not want to Associate Justice Weaver who was assigned that delicate duty by his associates on the bench reviews the famous case of Lillian Russell who jumped a contract with a prominent theatrical company because she objected to playing in tights as the manager required Miss Russell claimed that the tights were too cold and she wouldn t wear them

The cold-blooded Supreme Court of another State decided that Miss Russell if she wouldn t wear tights for one company couldn t wear even skirts for another show manager during the term of her contract and she of necessity had to stay at home it is said Justice Weaver expresses much sympathy for Miss Russell and calls that decision an uncharitable conclusion since she had refused for reasons of her own to accept a physician's advice and "wear something under her tights if they were too cold All of this is set forth in the decision of the Iowa Supreme Court on the Gossard-Helene Crosby case

Justice Weaver also refers to the case of the Philadelphia Baseball Club against the far famed Lajoie who was compelled by order of court to bat home runs for the Philadelphia fans though his baseball heart was centered in the success of a rival team which he wanted to manage Had Lajoie been a member of the Des Moines Champs and wanted to leave the service of Mike Cantillon the Iowa Supreme Court seems to be inclined to give him a free pass no matter how much they might regret his departure

JUDGE'S KNOWLEDGE OF CORSETS.

An intimate knowledge of front lace corsets is manifested by Justice Weaver in his learned opinion on the subject but then he is a married man It is perhaps a good thing for Helene Crosby that the Iowa Supreme Court was not composed entirely of bachelors or she might not have fared so well. In regard to the contention of the Gossard Company that Helene possessed rare accomplishments as a corset demonstrator and saleswoman, Justice Weaver says

"The mechanism of a front lace corset is not shown to be such an intricate and complicated design as to require surpassing talent for its solution, nor is anything alleged which tends to show why any other woman of intelligence, experience in the sale of goods, and of fairly good address would not perform the required service with reasonable success '

IMPORTANCE OF DECISION.

The meat of the decision is contained in the following paragraph from the opinion of Justice Weaver which is one of the most important handed down at this session of the Supreme Court

'If the employer though expressly bound by his contract to keep an employe in his service for a stated term of months or years and not to discharge him during that period or to employ any other person in his stead should elect to violate such an agreement before the employe's term of service had expired no court unless it be under very extraordinary circumstances would undertake to make a decree of specific performance by the negative process of injunction to compel such employer to continue his contract relations with the employe a single day beyond the time when for any reason sufficient or insufficient in law he determines to sever them If this be so and we think its correctness will be admitted then there is most palpable inequality, not to say injustice, in any rule which holds the employe to any service while his or her employer may violate the agreement at pleasure with no other penalty than the damages which may be assessed in a court of law When a court of equity intervenes to compel the employes to specifically perform a contract for personal service his service becomes involuntary and his position becomes one of involuntary servitude a condition utterly incompatible with our institutions and the fundamental law of the land

Such performance if enforced by law would produce a state of servitude as degrading and demoralizing in its consequences as a state of absolute slavery and if enforced in a government like ours which acknowledges a personal equality it would be productive of a state of feeling more discordant and irritating than slavery itself

Even where there is an express negative covenant injunction will not be granted save in those exceptional cases where by reason of the peculiar and extraordinary character of the promised service a violation of the agreement will not cause injury to the other party for which an action at law will afford no adequate remedy '

TO ACTRESSES OR CORSET MODELS

If you're tired of tights, or you feel
That in corsets you'd like a new deal,
Don t stamp and say "Fudge!"
But 'phone to the Judge—
He ll fix it as slick as an eel

3 CHANGES IN CITY CHARTER

Proposed Amendments to Include Proposition for a New Garbage Plant.

Three proposed amendments to the present city charter were introduced in the city council last night and referred to the committee of the whole for a recommendation The proposed amendments will come up for consideration next Monday night at which time the committee will meet

The first of the proposed amendments is one introduced by Councilman Thurston which provides that the offices of the city assessor and city auditor be separate and that that portion of section 147 which provides that the city assessment rolls be taken from the county rolls be expunged and that hereafter the city assessor compile original rolls

Incorporated in the same resolution is a proposed amendment to the charter providing that the city establish its own garbage plant to destroy refuse and offal This action has been found necessary as the Pacific Incinerating Company has not been complying with its franchise owing to lack of facilities The plant of this concern was recently seriously damaged by fire

Another amendment introduced by Counucilman Baccus, provides that the proper city officials be given authority to act in emergencies particularly in repairing broken sewers and damaged wharves It has been found in the past that considerable delay has been occasioned by the red-tape that has to be gone through in order to do an work gone through in order to do an work for instance the advertising for bids and letting of contracts

ELECTION ON JANUARY 15

Fruitvale and Other Towns Will Thin Vote on Annexation to Oakland.

The election to determine whether Fruitvale Elmhurst Fitchburg and another portion of Piedmont will be annexed to this city will be held on Tuesday, January 15, 1907 This date was decided on last night by the city council and an ordinance providing for the election and setting the day was passed to print. The council also passed resolutions authorizing the city clerk to secure the necessary supplies and booths to conduct the election

The ordinance provides that the general election precincts will be used in the City of Oakland and that there will be seven voting precincts in Fruitvale and one each in Elmhurst, Piedmont and Fitchburg

One fifth of the voters of the districts which it is proposed to annex to Oakland recently asked the city council to call an election and submit the question to a vote The suggestion was favorably passed upon by the council and an ordinance drawn up by the city attorney and the city engineer This ordinance was passed to print last night

It is understood that in Fruitvale considerable oppositon is to be made against the proposed annexation but in the other districts the sentiment seems to be much in favor of the proposition

NO RAISE IN SALOON TAX

Proposition to Increase License From $400 to $1000 is Killed.

The proposed raising of the saloon license of this city was given its quietus by the City Council last night at least for the time being An ordinance introduced by Councilman F F Thurston fixing the license at $1000 per year was up for action and it was moved that it be filed

Before the question was put to a vote however Councilman Elliot arose and addressing Councilman Thurston said Is this satisfactory to you to have your proposed ordinanced filed?

No answered Councilman Thurston it is not satisfactory but it seems to be its fate There is nothing to do as I cannot find enough votes in sight to pass it I think that something should be done however as Oakland should get what is coming to it from the liquor license source Oakland now has the lowest liquor license of any city on the coast I find that the average license of the other cities is $700 per annum while ours is only $400

Councilman Baccus chairman of the license committee then called for the question The vote was taken and the proposed ordinance filed

I do not believe said Chairman Fitzgerald that the license should be raised to $1000 a year but I think that there should be an increase

Will you vote for some increase?' queried Councilman Pendleton

I will vote when the time comes ' averred Fitzgerald, and the matter was dropped

The proposed ordinance requiring wholesale dealers to apply to the city council for a license was also filed as it was found that such a measure would work a hardship on many dealers who have large property interests here and who might be turned down by future councils who could under the proposed ordinance refuse to grant a license The intention of the measure was to force Chinese liquor dealers to pay a license This will be done however, under the present laws of the city

Liquor licenses were granted to the following Cather & Greiner 471 Ninth street R. Wolter 1125 Thirteenth avenue Neil Gallagher 505 Twenty-fifth street John Schmitz Twenty-sixth and San Pablo avenue G Beckert and A. G Kieso, 1700 Seventh street H and F Hennings Sixth and Alice streets W L Teague 1654 Seventh street P Kisich 412 Thirteenth street Connelly & Gallagher 1224 Broadway H. BABY'S TORTURING SKIN HUMOR

Ears Looked as if They Would Drop Off—Body Entirely Covered—Face Mass of Sores—Three Doctors Could Not Cure—Child Grew Worse—Face and Body Now Clear

CURED BY CUTICURA IN TWO WEEKS FOR 75c.

Mrs George J. Steese, of 701 Coburn St, Akron, Ohio, tells in the following letter of another of those remarkable cures of torturing, disfiguring skin humors daily made by Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, after physicians, and all else had failed: "I feel it my duty to parents of other poor suffering babies to tell you what Cuticura has done for my little daughter. She broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, they all claimed they could help her, but she continued to grow worse Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was being eaten away; her ears looked as if they would drop off Neighbors advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and before I had used half of the cake of Soap and box of Ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body were as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without it again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents, which is all it cost us to cure our baby, after spending many dollars on doctors and medicines without any benefit whatever."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for every Humor, from Pimples to Scrofula, from Infancy to Age, consisting of Cuticura Soap, 25c., Ointment, 50c., Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) may be had of all druggists. A single set often cures the most distressing cases when all other remedies, and even the best physicians fail. CITY SALARIES ARE RAISED

Several Receive Increases of $21 and $25 a Month—Few Turned Down.

The salaries of several city officials were raised by the city council last night and those of several others were taken under consideration During the voting on the question of the various increases, a controversy arose in nearly every case, but each was amicably settled.

Those whose salaries were raised last night are: Sanitary Inspector Stewart Gimmel, $125 to $150, John Du Fraine, machinist, fire and police telegraph, $100 to $125; Mrs C. F. Baxter, matron of city prison, $40 to $60, George M. Flint, chief clerk office superintendent of streets, $125 to $150; Edward Tyrrell, clerk and stenographer board of works, $100 to $125; Eddie Smith, assistant sanitary inspector, $100 to $125.

Those who did not get the raises they asked for, but whose applications were referred to the auditing and finance committee are: W. W. Blair, assistant superintendent of streets, $125 to $150; William Matthews, third deputy treasurer, $125 to $150; William Fitzmaurice, fourth deputy treasurer, $125 to $150; street laborers, $2 50 a day, sewer laborers, $3 a day, and gang foremen, $4 a day

The council created a new office, that of superintendent of public parks Malcolm Lamond, now head gardener, was appointed to the position at a salary of $125 The petition for five new gardeners at a salary of $80 was referred to the auditing and finance committee

When the list was about a third completed, Councilman Elliot interposed and stated that there should be some limit to the raise "We will raise a few of these deputies,' said Elliot, "and then all the city's employes will be asking for more pay

Councilman Thurston—I also think there should be a limit These applicants are mostly clerks whose positions are not responsible ones I believe in raising the salaries of those who have some responsibility.

Councilman Donaldson—I am not in favor of raising the salaries of under clerks and I think that we should not take any further action tonight

Councilman Elliot then introduced a resolution referring the remainder of the applications to the auditing and finance committee This resolution provided that the Mayor and the Board of Works be invited to attend the meeting of committee to jointly consider the proposed increasing of the salaries

Before going to the school Secretary Metcalf drove through the Japanese quarter for the purpose of obtaining some idea of the life and conditions there After lunch which was eaten at the house of the Japanese Consul, at the corner of Gough and Pine streets he went to the office of the Japanese Consulate The afternoon was taken up in hearing the statements and complaints of Japanese restaurant keepers regarding the boycotting of their business Secretary Metcalf declined to say anything of the impression he had received in traveling through that portion of the Western Addition occupied by the Japanese, but said that he might make a statement later

Attorney C M Fickert, representing I Yasuhara, a Japanese schoolboy, in a petition for the right to attend the Pacific Heights grammar school, San Francisco, appeared before Judge Wolverton in his department of the United States Circuit Court yesterday to renew his petition for an injunction to restrain Miss Emma Stincen, principal of the Pacific Heights school, from denying the boy the privileges of the school The petition was filed some time ago, but the attorney later stated his intention of withdrawing the request He has changed his mind and is prepared to argue the petition. Judge Wolverton on Wednesday next will set a date for the hearing

Very common in Japan is the custom of adopting children to keep a family name from becoming extinct There is scarcely a family in which it has not at some time or other been observed A person who has no male issue adopts a son and, if he has a daughter often gives her to the adopted son in marriage A youth, or even a child who may be the head of a family occasionally adopts, on the point of dying, a son older than himself to succeed him.

3 FISHERMEN LOST ON LAKE

Chicago Man Caught in Storm in an Open Launch on Lake Michigan.

CHICAGO, Nov 5—Three fishermen, Lewis Wright, William Thornton and a man whose name could not be learned who left Michigan City Ind, on Saturday in an open gasoline launch, are believed to have been drowned They were on their way to Chicago, giving a boat a test trip They carried but little food, as they expected to make Chicago in a short time

When they failed to reach Chicago it was at first believed that because of a small storm which swept the lake the men had beached the boat and were safe. The continued absence of the boat alarmed friends in Chicago and the life saving crews at Chicago, Michigan City and St Joseph, Mich, were notified.

After an unsuccessful search, all hope of finding the missing fishermen was abandoned last night

It is now believed that the boat was swamped by heavy seas after the fuel had been exhausted

A DELIGHTFUL JOURNEY

Taken by Any One at Small Expense.

A bright young lady was telling a friend recently of her trip along the most delightful road she ever traveled the food route She said

For a number of years I have been a sufferer from indigestion with its attendant ailments, but my case was not sufficiently serious to cause alarm until two years ago

'In the early part of this summer my stomach was in such a state I could take very little food owing to the intense suffering it caused, consequently I was losing flesh rapidly and growing weaker every day I had read about Grape-Nuts in the papers and magazines, and two months ago persuaded myself to try a package I read the little booklet it contained and resolved to follow instructions as closely as possible

"The result may be understood when I say that I met a friend whom I had not seen for three months Her first inquiry was, 'Where have you been all summer?' I said, for the past two months I've been traveling along the road to 'Wellville'

"'What are you doing?" she asked

'I've been feasting on Grape-Nuts and drinking Postum Coffee, I replied.

"'Oh, she said, 'you are looking so well I did not know you at first sight.'

"Whereupon I told her all about it—advising her to pursue the same course and continue it indefinitely, as I shall do.

"I am now using Grape-Nuts in some form three times daily, and Postum Coffee twice a day, and I shall improve every opportunity by advising others to do likewise" Name given by Postum Co, Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason."

GRAIN CHOKES OUT HIS LIFE

Pit of Kernals Proves Deadly Quicksand for Man Who Falls In.

NEW YORK, Nov 6—Patrick Dolan foreman of the grain handlers in the elevator of the William Baird Company Brooklyn, fell into a pit containing 3000 bushels of grain yesterday

The little kernals rolling against one another like myriad cogs of a great machine, gripped his feet, his ankles, his legs, his knees crowding each other like honey cells, held him fast and drew him down with a power that was irresistible Dolan plunged this way and then that and with every step the quick-sands gripped him more firmly He called for help and Petro Amazio a fellow worker went to his assistance He threw a rope to Dolan which the latter seized so desperately that he threw Amazio into the pit

Other workmen who had been to lunch, now heard the outcries, but both men had disappeared when they reached the scene A rush was made for the chutes through which the grain is unloaded and unfastening the covers the men let the wheat run into the street Soon Amazio's body shot down the chute and Dolan's followed The latter was dead, having been smothered but Amazio was still alive and will recover

Prosecutions for Disregard of Life.

The following article from the Kansas City Star applies as strongly to Oakland as it does in Missouri, and contains several pertinent suggestions as to what constitutes culpability in so-called accidents on street railroads:

"Three important prosecutions recently begun in Kansas City or in its immediate territory involve dissimilar facts, but the variant circumstances exemplify an identical menace—a proneness to take unlawful risks endangering human life.

"In Kansas City the motorman whose car killed a child is to be tried for manslaughter, and the chauffeur whose automobile caused the death of two persons is charged with homicide. At the same time prosecutions are pending in Kansas against a number of railway companies which have not complied with the require ments of the Interstate Commerce Commission for safety appliances.

"There is a prevalent sentiment which holds that a motorman or an automobile driver who is directly or indirectly responsible for the death of a person suffers enough in the remorse or regret which he feels. Undoubtedly the author of such an accident does suffer and he is doubtless innocent of intent to kill. But the president and directors of a railway who neglect precautions for safety are just as certainly regretful of the deaths occurring on their roads and have no design to commit homicide. So, factories where the employment is dangerous have been required to install devices to lessen the hazard, though the manufacturers would not willingly kill their workmen.

"It is not enough that there shall be no intent to kill. There should be an intent not to kill. And it is the experience of years that unless the laws require care not to injure others, and unless the disregard of the law is punished, men will take unlawful risks—employers will not install safety appliances and employes will discard reasonable prudence.

"Nowhere else in the civilized world has the undervaluation of human life been so flagrant as in the United States The shifting of responsibility is much to blame. The willingness to take chances is another factor. It is an increasing obligation on the part of society to overcome that disregard of life whether it is the result of inconsiderate greed or of uncalculating negligence. And this consideration supports and even compels the differing prosecutions which simultaneously engage public attention."

Cheer up, losers, Thanksgiving Day is coming, and the turkeys are fat.

We hazard the prediction that as soon as the election is over there will be a collapse in the San Francisco graft crusade. During the past few days it has become quite evident that the whole business was worked up for political effect. Langdon appointed Heney and raised a howl to put life into a gubernatorial boom that was dying of inanition.

Some of the places used for polling booths in Oakland were entirely too small. The one on Webster street, near the junction with Broadway, was so small that the ordinary secrecy of the ballot could hardly be maintained. There was only room for three marking booths instead of the unusual number of five, and the table and members of the election board so filled up the place that there was scarce room to turn around. This sort of thing ought to be avoided in future.

The indications are that the present Republican majority in the lower House of Congress will be considerable cut down as a result of today's election. Appearances indicate a loss of several seats in Pennsylvania, two or three in Ohio, three or four in Illinois, two or three in Iowa, at least one each in West Virginia and Massachusetts, while there is little promise of compensating gains. However, the Republican majority of 114 is phenomenal, being due to the Roosevelt tidal wave, and can be cut down thirty or forty without its working efficiency being impaired.

It is to be hoped that every citizen voted today as his conscience and judgment dictated. So long as the great majority of men permit themselves to be guided by reason and patriotism the safety of our country and the perpetuity of free institutions are assured. It is true that the people sometimes make mistakes, but in the long run their honest judgment is infallible. The saving grace of popular government is embodied in Lincoln's maxim, "You can fool all the people sometimes and a part of the people all the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time." There are demagogues who play upon ignorance and prejudice often to serve venal ends, but the antidote for the evil they work is education and the development of the reasoning power. It is gratifying to reflect that as illiteracy disappears there is less heat and rancor in political campaigns, less vituperation and denunciation, and more temperate intelligent discussion.

Campaign Managers at Sea.

The election forecasts sent out by the New York political managers vary so tremendously as to convey the inference that both sides are bluffing. Both sides express equal confidence of winning by from 150,000 to 250,000 majority. If these widely diverse estimates are based on honest opinions then the campaign managers are at sea as to the actual trend of popular sentiment. It is not only conceivable but extremely likely that the majority one side or the other will be large, for an election contest along the lines of the New York campaign is bound to set the popular tide strongly in one direction. The betting is four to one in favor of Hughes, yet Hearst and his managers express the utmost confidence of carrying the State by 200,000. We shall soon know how the issue has gone, but with the returns will probably come the conviction that it is foolish to place any dependence in preposterous ante-election estimates made by interested party managers.

The election being over, even the politicians can turn their attention to doing something for Oakland.

THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE would like to hear from readers of the paper. We want your ideas. Write a letter occasionally on some current event that interests you. LOVE'S IMMORTALITY.

Among those things that make our love complete
And high beyond all others I have known,
This knowledge is not least: That we have sown
Together seeds of beauty that shall greet
Strange years in blossoms that the reckless feet
Of Death shall not destroy; that we have shown
To blinded eyes the visions of our own,
And made our blood in others' veins to beat.

Why should we yearn for immortality
In some imagined heaven, when on earth
Our flowers of song perfume the dusty road
And speak to passers-by of you and me?
Enough if we have justified our birth
Ere entering the inscrutable abode.

MAN REFUSES TO GIVE NAME

Admits Woman Shot Him, but Will Give Police No Further Details.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—In a determined effort to keep the name of a girl secret, a young man who gave his name as William Kramer, and who said he was living at Mills Hotel, No. 2, suffered agonies in the Delancey-street Police Station early today, while a surgeon was probing a bullet wound in his arm, and then went to a cell on the charge of being a suspicious person.

Policeman Curran was at Grand and Ridge streets just before dawn, when a man jumped from a crosstown car, going west, and holding a bloody wrist before him, said:

"I've just been shot. I thought I could get away with it, but I can't. It's beginning to hurt."

"Who shot you?" asked the policeman.

"That's another question," replied the man. "I've been shot, and that's all you need know about it. Just show me where I can get patched up, and I will call the shooting off."

Curran took the bleeding man to the station house and arraigned him before Sergeant Shanahan.

"What's the charge?" asked the sergeant.

"He's been shot is the charge," spoke up Curran, "and he won't tell who shot him."

Dr. Winthrop came from Governeur Hospital. The wound in Kramer's arm was not serious, but it was painful, and the bullet was still deep in the flesh. The surgeon stuck a probe deep into the man's arm, and then he blurted out:

"God! If she could stop this pain she would do it."

"Who is 'she'?" Kramer was asked.

"The girl those men attacked me for," he blurted out before he knew what he was saying, such was his pain. "She had nothing to do with it," he added.

Then the police asked Kramer who the men were who had attacked him, but he was dumb as an oyster.

"To give you their names would give you hers," he answered. "I won't tell any names. She must not be brought into this."

Then he was led away to a cell, and today he will be arraigned in Essex Market Police Court on the charge of being a suspicious person.

TWINS STARVE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Two nine-weeks-old children, boy and girl twins, starved to death in New York today. The babes who succumbed to the grim wolf of want were Charles and Mary Dixon, children of George Dixon, an express wagon driver when he has work.

Several weeks ago there was a strike of the express wagon drivers, and Dixon went out with the rest. When he tried to get his job back he found that he was a marked man. He had been active in union affairs and everywhere was told there was no work for him. The Dixons had occupied a neat flat on East Twenty-sixth street, but a few weeks of idleness ate up all their savings and they had to move to cheap quarters at No. 7 First avenue There the twins were born

What little money was left went for a doctor and medicine, and the Dixons had to go hungary. Meanwhile, Dixon was tramping all over New York hunting the job he never found. When he got home in the evening the wailing of his hungry children drove him out to the streets again, and he managed to borrow enough from his friends to keep their souls in their bodies till today.

Today, atfer Dixon had started out on his daily search for work, Mrs. Dixon went over to the crib in which the twins had lain wailing from hunger all night. Toward morning they had grown very still; and their mother was alarmed As she put her hand on them she drew back with a cry. They were quite cold. Picking them up in her arms, she ran several blocks to the Fifth-street police station. Sergeant Flannery called a doctor from Bellevue Hospital, but he could do nothing.

"Died of Inanition," was the report he turned in to the hospital, which is a nice way of saying "starved to death."

As Mrs. Dixon reached home again with a policeman, who had been instructed by the sergeant to relieve the family's wants, Dixon burst into the room.

"Hurrah, Mary!" he cried. "I've gat a job at last!"

CATCHES THIEF AND BEATS HIM

Stenographer Sees Pickpocket Take Purse—She Pursues Him.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Cheered by fully a hundred persons, Miss Frances Kern, a stenographer, employed in a Broadway building chased, captured and thrashed a man whom she accused of having aided a pickpocket in stealing a purse from her yesterday afternoon at Nassau and Beekman streets. With her parents she lives at 492 Lorimer street, Williamsburg

Miss Kern was jostled by two men in a Nassau street crowd and an instant later missed her purse from her coat pocket. Turning around, she reached out for a middle-aged man who, she says, handed the purse to a young man, who promptly started to run down the street. Miss Kern pursued him and a crowd joined her.

"Give it to him again," shouted the crowd which came up and surrounded the pair.

Policeman Hanlon arrested the girl's prisoner who, after he had given his name as Benjamin Littleburg of 42 Essex street, was said by the police to have his photograph in the Rogues' Gallery.

"Why, I found that purse," said Littleburg, as he handed the purse over to Miss Kern

"Yes, you found it where it wasn't lost," replied Miss Kern, as the crowd cheered her

Littleburg will be arraigned today in the Tombs Police Court.

"I'll be in court to prosecute this man," said Miss Kern later "I will teach him a good lesson not to interfere with other people's property."

L. C. C. DANCE.

The members of Company M, First Regiment, League of the Cross Cadets, have made final arrangements for their dance to be given in their armory, Sixteenth avenue and Sixteenth street tomorrow evening.

The affairs heretofore given by the young men of this company have always been a great success, and the interest taken in it by the young people of the parish who enjoy a pleasant evening tends to show that this dance will be as great a success, if not greater, than the preceding ones.

The committee of arrangements, consisting of Private G. O. Schmitt, chairman; Sergeant T. Healy, R. Knapp, F. Cullen and J. Lacey, have been working diligently to make it a success.

STRAIN TOO GREAT

Hundreds of Oakland Readers Find Daily Toil a Burden.

The hustle and worry of business men,

The hard work and stooping of workmen,

The woman's household cares,

Are too great a strain on the kidneys.

Backache, headache, sideache,

Kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow.

An Oakland citizen tells you how to cure them all.

T. H. Wallace of 115 Eleventh avenue, bricklayer, says: "It was so long since I had my first attack of backache that I have forgotten the year it occurred. I was always sure to have a spell when I contracted a cold from exposure to inclement weather or after an extra hard day's work. I had an attack when I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in the local paper, and I went for a box. In a few days the backache disappeared. I will not have the slightest hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to any of my friends and acquaintances whom I hear complaining of backache which arises from the kidneys nor performing their work properly."

AUTO STRIKES WORKMEN

Employes of Cotton Mills Are Injured While Walking Along Mole.

Antone Rebillo and Antone Mendy, two Portuguese employes at the California Cotton Works, were struck down by an automobile, about half past five o'clock last evening, at the foot of the Oakland mole, and received injuries which necessitated their being removed to the receiving hospital.

The Portuguese in returning to their homes last night, took a First-street instead of a Seventh-street local, and did not discover their mistake until they arrived at the Oakland Pier. Not having enough money to pay their fare back, they started to walk to their home at 1824 Seventh street. Just as they had reached the foot of the mole, an automobile containing Roy Simonds, D. Carl Reynolds and James Ready, suddenly whizzed up, and before they knew hardly what had struck them they were lying in the dust. This auto continued on its way, but a second automobile, containing L. V. Bogue, the vice-president of the Western Pacific railway, and his chauffeur, came along. Bogue's driver picked the men up, and they were driven to the pier and turned over to State Railroad Officer Butler, who had them removed to the hospital.

Simonds and his companions later gave themselves up to the police, stating that their lamp went out, and they did not see the men. They later returned for the men, they stated, when they fully realized what they had done, but the men were gone.

OFFICER OF STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE TRIED

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The court-martial of Lieutenant John S. Hamilton, Twelfth Infantry, U. S. A., for absence without leave began on Governor's Island yesterday. Hamilton is the officer who disappeared from the concentration camp at Mount Gretna, Pa., nearly three months ago, and who later wrote a letter to General Bell, the chief of the general staff, telling that officer that he was going to commit suicide.

About ten days ago Hamilton surrendered to General Carter in Chicago. General Carter sent him to be court-martialed. The trial is being held behind closed doors at the request of Hamilton's council.

HUGHES PROUD OF HIS SON

Father of Candidate, a Minister, Believes His Boy Will Surely Win.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Rev. David C. Hughes, father of Charles E. Hughes, told yesterday how he felt over the prospect of having his son the Governor of the State. The Rev. Mr. Hughes has been the proudest of fathers since the candidate started his work with the insurance investigating committee. Dr. Hughes said he was hopeful of the outcome and that he told his son he would win.

"How does the candidate feel?" he was asked.

"Oh, well, he is confident, but he is awful tired. He said to me this morning: 'Father, I don't think I would go through it all again, through all the turmoil and work, for all the presidencies, for all the governorships, or for any other office.'"

2 VICTIMS OF SLOW HORSES

S. P. Locomotive and Trolley Car Wreck Wagons Stalled on Tracks.

Slow horses were the cause of two men nearly meeting death this morning, one via the Southern Pacific route, the other by way of the Oakland Traction Company's rolling stock.

J. N. Jacobs was driving a loaded wagon to the County Jail and had reached the railroad tracks at First and Broadway when the horse saw an Alameda local approaching and balked. The animal took a stand that would insure its safety, but Jacobs and his load of skylights went skyward when the train struck the obstacle in its path. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital where Steward Harry Borchert found that he had sustained an incised wound under the right eye, abrasions of the right forehead, nose and cheek and back of the right hand, and incised wound of the index finger of the right hand. Jacobs lives at 3863 Eighteenth street, San Francisco. The wagon and its contents were demolished.

Michael Cornara, employed by the Alameda Vegetable Gardening Company, was driving a load of vegetables to market this morning and had reach the bridge in Alameda, when he suddenly discovered that a trolley car was bearing down upon him. Whipping up his horse he attempted to escape, but the animal refused to move faster than a walk and the car crashed into the vehicle completely demolishing it and throwing Cornara to the pavement, where he landed on his head. The horse was unhurt. Cornara was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Steward Borchert placed several stitches in a bad laceration over the right eye.

HARVARD HONORS A BERKELEY MAN

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—The news comes from Cambridge that Allen Pomeroy Matthew of the class of 1903, of the University of California, has been elected editor of the Harvard Law Review, the organ of the Harvard law school. Mr. Matthew, while in the University of California, was prominent as a debater and military man. He represented the University on the intercollegiate team in 1903 and was the leading member of the Students' Congress, becoming its speaker in his senior year. Mr. Matthew was also remarkably successful in his work in the military department, and had the honor of commanding the company which won the banner at the close of his senior year.

DEATH LEAVES BOY STANDING IN STREET

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—Forrest Flannery, an 11-year-old boy, was instantly electrocuted on West Figueroa street, today, by picking up the broken end of a telephone wire which had fallen across an electric light wire. The boy, when found, was dead, standing upright in the street with the wire still in his hand.

Musical Comedy Will be Given by the Idora Park Company.

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—Preparations have been completed for the annual football show which will be given next Saturday evening at Idora Park. The Idora Park Opera Company will present "The Tar and Tartar," a musical comedy which has had a phenomenal run during the past week. Arrangements have been made to have bits of college life and college songs introduced during the play.

At the beginning of the fall semester, President Merritt of the Associated Students of the State University, appointed a committee composed of R. H. Van Sant, '07, L. A. McArthur, '08, B. Campbell, '06, and N. R. Tucker, '09, to make extensive arrangements for a football show on the evening after the Varsity game. Deeming that Idora Park was most favorable for the event, the deal was closed with the Opera Company at the park to present one of their regular musical comedies with a few alterations introduced to render the affair more collegiate in tone.

The management also promised to reserve the theater on November 10 for the exclusive use of the University. The lower part of the house will be reserved for rooters exclusively, while the balcony will be open to the general college public. Chairman Van Sant wishes it generally understood that no one except rooters will be allowed on the first floor. The prices for rooters' seats have been set at 75 cents and this price will prevail in the balcony as well.

The program has been under the charge of R. L. Flannery, '09, and P. A. Myers, '09, and a special issue has been prepared for Saturday evening. Songs will be published on the program with a picture of Haffey, Varsity captain, on the front page.

The cast of characters is as follows: Muley Hasson, "the tar," Ferris Hartman; Cardamon, an Arab Chief, Arthur Cunningham; Yussuf, his lieutenant, Eugene Wiener, Khartoon, Grand Vizier, Walter De Leon; Pajama, Court Doctor, Joseph Fogarty; Sultan, Karl Formes; Farina, a Circassian beauty, Sybil Page. Taffeta, her maid, Hope Mayne; Alpaca, "the tartar," Bernice Holmes; Lambrekin, Hanna Dairs; Unipa, Lillian Raymond. Fishermen, arabs, courtiers, guards, wives, amazons, fishermaids.

ROBBED OF $2, HE TRIED TO END LIFE

NEW YORK, Nov. 6—Because he had been robbed of $2, Samuel Diegeld wanted to commit suicide yesterday by throwing himself in front of a trolley car in Paterson, N. J. Policeman Moshy saved him, and then Diegeld begged the policeman to cut his throat. Broadway, where the incident occurred, was crowded, and the excitement cause, was increased by hysterical and fainting women. Diegeld has been in this country only three weeks, and the money stolen from him was all he had.

FOLLOWS 'HALT!' WITH BULLET

Lodging House Proprietor Fires After Fleeing Intruder.

Upon seeing a strange man leaving his lodging house about 8 o'clock this morning with a bundle of blankets under his arm, F. Delmas of 518½ Seventh street, called to the man to halt, but the fellow took to his heels, and Delmas had to fire a shot in order to stop the thief.

The burglar was turned over to a policeman and at the police station he gave the name of John Driscoll. It was alleged that he had stolen the blankets from one of the rooms in Delmas' house.

The shot which Delmas fired struck Driscoll in the finger, and made but a slight wound. It was enough, however, to make the thief's nerve fail him and give himself up to his pursuer.

AUTOS CLAIM TWO VICTIMS

Lying side by side in a little room in the receiving hospital, one dying, the other badly injured, are two chums, both Portuguese, victims of the auto fiend. Taking the wrong train and being carried to the Oakland mole where they found themselves stranded, Antono Mendez and Antone Rebillo, both living at 1824 Seventh street, West Oakland, started to walk home along the fill.

It was dark and in their haste they failed to notice five machines approaching rapidly from the rear. The two men were struck at the same time by a heavy touring car driven by Roy Simon, employed by the Crane company, and bowled over. Before Rebillo could arise he was run over by a second machine in which was, according to the police, L V Begue, vice-president of the Western Pacific railroad.

Bogue ordered his chaffeau to stop and took the chums to the pier, where they were turned over to State Railroad Officer Butler, who accompanied them to the receiving hospital. Meantime Simon had returned to the scene of the accident but finding no trace of his victims he went to the receiving hospital with his friends, James Ready and D. Carl Reynolds, where he gave himself up. His father, S. L. Simon, a bookkeeper in the sheriff's office in San Francisco, was notified and he bailed his son out for $50.

Dr. ecrae Reinle, who examined Rebillo found that he had received a fracture of the right collar bone, fracture of the ribs near the spine on the left side, contusions of both hips and internal injuries, which will prove fatal. hours, without any cut in wages.

Eight stitches were taken in a lacerated wound on the back of the left hand of Roy Crane, fifteen years old, a butcher employed at the College Market, living at 165 Claremont avenue. Crane attempted to cut a beefsteak, but before he succeeded the customer thought that he was making mincemeat of his left hand. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. H. F. Koford dressed his wound.

DECLINE TO GRANT RAISE

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—General managers of twenty-three railroads entering Chicago have declined to grant the demands of the Switchmen's Union for an increase of wages. The railroads renewed their offer of two cents an hour increase, but declined to go beyond that.

The switchmen last night decided to demand ten cents an hour and their request was accompanied by a practical threat of a strike if their demands were not granted.

PASADENA MAN PAYS $200,000 FOR RANCH.

REFUSE INCREASE; GRANT SHORTER DAY

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 6.—The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad company refused the demand of the switchmen for an increase of ten cents an hour in wages. The company, however, concedes a ten-hour day to all switchmen who now work twelve

CAUGHT IN A DEATH TRAP

Caught in the narrow space between the sidewalk and the railroad track with three tons of coal on his wagon, Chris Borree, a teamster living at Fitch avenue, Elmhurst, employed by Rhodes & Jameson, coal dealers, was struck by an Alameda local this afternoon and seriously injured. Borree saw the train approaching and attempted to make the horse pull the wagon on the sidewalk. The load was too heavy, and he was caught like a rat in a trap. The shock of the collision threw him under the horse's hoofs, and he would have been trampled to death were it not for bystanders, who pulled him out of danger. At the Receiving hospital he was treated by Dr. H. Koford, his body being a mass of bruises, inflicted by the frightened animal. Borree states that the train had plenty of time in which to come to a halt, that they did not whistle or signal to him of his danger, but rushed upon him at full speed.

TOUR OF INSPECTION.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 6.—Secretary of War Taft left here this morning for Fort Robinson, Neb., and after an inspection of that post will go to Chicago. A few days later he will inspect Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley in Kansas.

HEAVY VOTE IN THE STATE

All Signs Point to the Election of Gillett as Governor.

dicate heavy early voting and general interest in today's election. There are eight tickets in the field, and consequently the ballot is so large that much time will be consumed in counting them, the voting machines not being used.

Although the contest is lively the voting is being done quietly, and so far no disturbances have occurred. In this city early morning voting records have been made at several of the polling places.

Both the Republican and the Democratic leaders are claiming a victory, but no safe prediction can be made by either side at this time. The chief contest is over the offices of Sheriff and Coroner.

AT SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 6.—Interest in the election was shown by the early voting, which was heavy and the indications are that there will be a larger vote polled in San Diego than ever before. Both central committees claim the county—the Republicans by 2500 for Gillett and the Democrats by 250 for Bell.

The Republicans expect to elect a full county ticket, while the Democrats claim they will elect one Assemblyman from the city and three county officials. Because of the large ballot the count will be slow. No disturbance of any kind has been reported...

KERN COUNTY.

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 6.—Perfect weather greeted the voters of Kern county when the polls opened this morning. Contrary to expectations, but a slight vote had been cast in Bakersfield up to 1 p. m. The local campaign was fiercely fought and both parties are claiming a victory for their respective tickets. Chairman Roberts of the Democratic central committee claims Kern county for Bell by 700 votos, and C. A. Barlow to defeat the Republican candidate, S. C. Smith, for Congress.

In Kern City much activity was noticeable this morning. Many candidates were present at the polls and this afternoon it is expected they will devote their efforts to Bakersfield.

AT STOCKTON.

STOCKTON, Nov. 6.—The weather is clear and warm, bringing out a large and early vote. The election is proceeding quietly, though there is some challenging by the Republicans, there having been hints of colonization. A numbed of votes were sworn in. Both sides express the greatest confidence in the result, but anything in the nature of prediction must be more or less a guess.

AT VALLEJO.

VALLEJO, Nov. 6.—A large vote is being cast early today, including many split tickets. The total vote of Vallejo probably will be 2600 out of 3200 names on the register. The navy yard employes will be given a half hour to vote at 2:30 p. m. The outlook is that Solano and Napa counties together will give Bell 1500 plurality.

AT SACRAMENTO.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 6.—Ideal weather prevails and a heavy vote is being polled today. The great shops of the railroad company are closed, business is practically suspended and voters are about the polls in great numbers. The paper ballot is being used here. The election is very quiet and no forecast of the outcome can be made. Both Republicans and Democrats are claiming Sacramento county.

WON'T RESIGN SAYS DINAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Replying to reports that he was about to be forced from the police department or asked to resign, Chief Dinan declared with emphasis this morning:

"Six horses could not drag me from my position as head of the police department. I will not resign and my enemies cannot force or induce me to quit."

Insistent rumors have been heard since San Francisco's carnival of crime began that Dinan must give way to public sentiment, which held him responsible for the apparent inefficiency of the police force, as shown by its inability to apprehend the gaspipe murderers or check murderous assaults and robberies.

Dinan, from the first, has maintained a determined front in the face of criticism and recent successes, such as the probable arrest of the bank slayers, has strengthened his position.

BATTLE CLOSE IN ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 6.—Advices from the territory indicate a close vote for delegate in congress between Cooper (R.) and Smith (D.), with strong claims of the latter's election. Joint statehood is not expected to poll over 15 per cent of the votes, only half of which amount will go to Ainsworth, the joint statehood candidate for congress.

NO WAGONS, AND VOTERS GO ON STRIKE

TACOMA, Nov. 6.—At Lake Head, in Pierce county, the voters are on a strike because neither political party has provided wagons to haul the electors to Tanwax, twelve miles distant. There are forty voters at Lake Head and they refuse to make the rip at their own expense.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Deputy County Clerk A. E. Johnstone issued a marriage license this morning to Erik Erikson, 26 years old, and Amanda Johnson, 29 years old, both residents of Point Richmond. They were the only victims of Cupid to appear at the Hall of Records today.

FRANCE HAS AN APOLOGY

Sultan Makes Amends for Attack on Boat From Cruiser at Tangier.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—The foreign office this afternoon announced that Mahommed el Torres, the representative of the Sultan of Morocco at Tangier, has apologized for the action of natives yesterday in stoning the crew of a small boat belonging to the French Cruiser Gallilee in the harbor of Tangier and that Mohammed el Torres had taken measures to prevent a recurrence of such incidents.

The French government is more concerned about the encounter which occurred October 26 near Dakar, Senegal, French West Africa, between a detachment of French sharpshooters and a band of Arabs, during which many of the sharpshooters and 150 Arabs were killed, as showing the extent of the agitation among the Arabs. A special dispatch from Dakar to the Echo de Paris says that the arms were supplied to the Arabs by a German adventurer at Mogador, Morocco.

SPIRITS INCITE DIVORCE SUIT

Medium Shows Patron Her Aged Husband Driving With a Younger Woman.

WINSTED, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Rosella S. Adams is suing Horace O. Adams for divorce and, incidentally, for $10,000 alimony. Mrs. Adams testified today that she went to the Spiritualists' camp meeting at Lake Pleasant, Mass., and attended several seances. At one a spirit, speaking through the medium, said:

"Your husband is forgetful——"

"Yes," said Mrs. Adams. "He is getting old. He will be 81 next birthday."

"Of his marriage vows," the spirit concluded.

"Impossible!" Mrs. Adams cried, impulsively.

"I see him now," the spirit added. "He is out driving with a woman and—yes—it is plain, although she is veiled—she is handsomer than you."

Mrs. Adams went home and examined her husband's diary. The spirit was right, in one respect, certainly. On the very day Mrs. Adams went to a seance there was an entry in the diary like this: "Drove out—Mrs. So-and-So—pretty, pretty."

Mrs. Adams testified, too, that once she caught her husband kissing her son's wife and heard him say to her:

"You know I would come to see you often, but I have to keep peace in the family."

Mrs. Adams admitted that once she lost her temper and pushed her husband into a bath tub. Also she had called him unkind names. She is very sorry for it now, she said.

Adams, a prominent contractor, has brought a counter suit, charging his wife with unbecoming conduct.

HIS BUNGLING HIS UNDOING

Supposedly Clever Sneak Thief Causes His Own Arrest.

A pair of shoes, protruding from his pocket, resulted yesterday afternoon in the arrest of a clever sneakthief named Thomas Clover. The man had stolen the shoes from J. H. Sears, a West Oakland shoe dealer, who detected the thief and placed him under arrest. Clover is now held at the police station under suspicion and a charge of petit larceny will probably be placed against him. The prisoner's record is being investigated and the authorities believe that Clover may have been instrumental in many other similar burglaries.

Clover went into Sears' store and asked for a position, saying that he was a shoe cutter, having worked in San Francisco. Sears directed the man to another factory and Clover then asked to be allowed to look over the shoes in Sears' factory. The proprietor acquiesced and then absented himself from the store for a moment. When he returned he was attracted by Clover's strange actions and he watched the man. Clover then started to leave the store, but Sears noticed a pair of shoes protruding from his visitor's pocket and he stopped the man. Clover fought back but did not escape and was taken to the West Oakland lockup by Sears.

Clover is a young man and told Sears that he had been compelled to steal because of hunger.

There's everything in a Monarch Range, from a spark to a roar, and the Duplex Draft does it.

The back lid heats up as hot and as quickly as the front lid. It is the only air-tight range ever invented—it is the range that won all the honors and the famous first prize and the gold medal at the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

TERMS.—Monarch Ranges will be sold for $6 down and $6 a month. These terms include setting up, connecting the water front and every other item of expense. All you pay in spot cash is $6 and you get the range and the turkey right away or at any time you say. PASTOR'S WIFE, MOTHER OF 8, SUED AS ELOPER

Husband, in Seeking Divorce. Says She Went Away While He Was at Services.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 6.—The Rev. H. R. Bailey, through attorneys, today filed a bill for divorce against his wife, Mrs. Sarah M. Bailey, whom he charges with having eloped from his home at Concord, Tenn., September 15, going to another city in company with Moses B. Marsh.

The Baileys were married April 28, 1872, and have eight children, all but three of whom are married. Bailey says he did not know of his wife's relations with Marsh until she disappeared from their home while he was away attending religious services.

His two youngest children then told him how, during his frequent absences from home, Marsh had been admitted at night, and spent the night with Mrs. Bailey.

JUST WED, NURSE IS DESERTED AND ROBBED

Miss Annie Kline, Lewistown, Pa., Marries Employer of a Week; Then Is Deserted.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—Miss Anna Kline, a Lewistown, Pa., nurse engaged as a governess, was married to her employer, deserted, she asserts, by her husband, who retained possession of a check in his favor for $2,025, which she intrusted to him, all within a week.

The name of the missing man is John C. Crocker. He advertised for a companion for his little daughter, and Miss Kline answered. They met by appointment in this city. An agreement was reached, and the man told her to be ready to start for California today.

Miss Kline then went away intending to return in time for the western trip. While away Crocker called on her, proposed marriage, was accepted and on October 16 they were married.

They left for Lewistown, Pa. While there she intrusted the $2025 to Crocker, giving him a check drawn on a Philadelphia bank. The pair returned to St. Louis. The next day Crocker disappeared. He represented himself as a wealthy merchant of Texarkana, Ark.

FORTUNE AND BRIDE AWAIT MISSING MAN

Albrecht Becker, Formerly of the German Army, Can Also Get Large Estate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A fortune, a true-blue sweetheart, a devoted sister and a rich father-in-law all await Albrecht Becker, a former lieutenant in the German army, but now numbered among the great army of the missing in America.

Becker won the heart of the girl, who is the daughter of a millionaire American silk manufacturer, about eight years ago in Berlin. He was then a lieutenant in the Kaiser's army, but the millionaire objected to him on account of his poverty. He immediately resigned and left for America to earn his fortune.

Left behind was his sister, Baroness von Kaskel, who has inherited the entire family estates, the brother being cut off because of waywardness in his younger years.

Since Becker's departure for America absolutely no word has been heard from him, save a short note to the effect that he was acting as translator for a firm in Chicago. He left this position and vanished from sight.

The sweetheart's health has been affected by Becker's absence, and now her father is ready to receive the young man into his family. The sister, Baroness von Kaskel, is so grief-stricken that she wants to give the estates she inherited to her brother, she having married a very wealthy landholder in the old country.

High-priced detectives have been employed to hunt Becker, his sweetheart standing the expense. The young woman's name is being withheld by the detectives until they are certain of Becker's fate.

ORDERED FROM CASTLE AT MIDNIGHT FATE OF YOUNG LORD AND HIS WIFE

PROUD BRITON FURIOUS THAT SON WEDS AN ACTRESS

SAD AND THRILLING SEQUEL TO WEDDING AUTO RIDE

GIBSON GIRL AN OUTCAST

Parents of Hon. Henry Aberdare Refuse to Recognize Her or Her Husband.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Lord Henry Campbell Aberdare has shown his only son and heir, the Hon. Henry Lyndhurst Bruce Aberdare, and his show-girl bride, the door of Longwood castle, the country seat of the Aberdares for generations. The son of the proud house of Aberdare, a future peer of the realm, has been told never again to enter his ancestral home. Lord Aberdare has expressed the most poignant regret that he has not the power to cut off the entail and thus deprive his son from ever succeeding to the estates.

This dramatic climax of the wooing and wedding of Camille Clifford, the "Gibson Girl," by the heir to the peerage of Aberdare, came at midnight on Saturday, after a thrilling automobile ride of 10 miles to Longworth castle, which witnessed two fainting fits by the bride, whose fears told her aright of the reception she would receive.

MRS. HENRY ABERDARE, NEE CAMILE CLIFFORD, AN ACTRESS

REACH HOME LATE AT NIGHT.

The outlines of the castle shone darkly in the moonlight when the motor halted in front of the portico, from which the great double oaken doors open into the main hall. No lights showed from any of the windows. Lord Aberdare and his entire household had long since retired.

The bell clanged through the house as the Hon. Henry Lyndhurst Bruce pulled the bronze handle. It was not until it had been run gthree times that a sleepy butler responded. He opened his eyes wide with astonishment when he recognized the young man and raised his hands in shocked surprise when he learned his errand.

Then there was an interval of waiting while the young bride stood in the ancestral hall of her husband, gazing in the dim light of the great drawing-room at the portraits that frowned down upon her. The bridegroom was the first to detect the sound of his father's slippered feet descending the grand stairway.

DRAMATIC SCENE FOLLOWS.

The dramatic scene which followed is described by a friend to whom it is said, Miss Clifford, now the Hon. Mrs. Bruce and destined to be Lady Aberdare, confided after her return to London.

If the heir of Aberdare had treasured a hope that the relentless opposition which his father had shown to his marriage with Miss Clifford would melt at sight of the bride, it must have fled at the first glance at the angry face of the stern old baron. Noted for his peppery temper, Lord Aberdare was white with rage at the temerity of his son in taking his stage bride to Longwood castle, on this midnight visit. He had not even taken the trouble to dress, but wore his pajamas, over which he had carelessly thrown a bath robe, the tasseled cords of which he tied as he descended the stairs.

But young Lord Aberdare stood his ground. He met his father at the door of the drawing-room, and at his side was the white-faced, trembling bride, shrinking from the storm that she foresaw.

"Father, this is my bride. Will you not welcome her to Longwood?" the young man pleaded as he advanced.

Lord Aberdare is said to have stood still, his face paling visibly and twitching as though he could not control the muscles. Grief and helpless rage commingled were expressed in his look. His lips opened but no sound issued. He paid no attention to his son's outstretched hand. At last he found words.

ORDERED TO GO AT ONCE.

"You dare to come here to me in this manner?" he said. "You have the affrontery to do this?"

Then he stepped aside, leaving a uassage to the door, and pointing to it.

"Go!" he said. "Go at once and take your bride with you. Do not speak! Go!"

Without a word the son is said to have passed the bride's hand through his arm, and, passing his father, left the castle. The tow passed the remainder of the night in the village inn. They then motored back to London.

Lady Aberdare had not appeared at any time during the midnight visit. She is said to be as furious as her husband over the marriage, though she does not treasure the same resentment toward her son. She is more inclined to be incensed against Miss Clifford.

Lord Aberdare was quoted today as saying that he would continue an allowance to his son sufficient to allow the couple to live frugally, but he will not recognize the marriage. Owing to his attitude the bride will remain on the stage.

WOMEN EXECUTIONERS IN A MODERN UTOPIA

Mrs. Sallie Smith Wants to Rule Whole Court Machinery and Be the Whole Shout.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—In the modern Utopia, which Mrs. Sallie Morris Smith pictures in her day dreams, woman is to be the whole show, from judge down to executioner. Mrs. Cory's ideal of life is one in which she can enjoy the felicity of being deprived of life by a woman swinging the axe, pressing the guillotine button or switching on the electric current.

Talking to a meeting of the Society of Political Study at its first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon, she said:

"When a woman on trial for her life is defended by a female lawyer, sat on by a female jury, judged by a female judge, and, if found guilty, consoled by a female and executed by a female, then will she have attained her proper place in the world. What man in the same circumstances would ever submit to having every position filled by the opposite sex?"

Mrs. Cory in the course of her remarks referred, somewhat contemptuously, to the domestic woman as a "surviving type, with her eyes lifted in worship to her own particular Ebenezer or Timothy."

"I think the domestic woman is the grandest woman ever known," protested the president, Mrs. John Judge. "She makes everything in life possible. Cooking is the foundation of home happiness. It is not only the way to reach a man's heart, but the way to keep it."

From this the discussion drifted on to whether or not women were superior to men. Mrs. Bell Grey Taylor thought the men considered themselves superior because women had spoiled them so long.

"Well, I think men are the spice of life," said Mrs. Kate Evans, as though concluding the whole matter. "We would get dreadfully tired with only women around."

HER BACK BROKEN, SHE LIVED FOUR MONTHS

Will Power of Mrs. Annie Klaus of Philadelphia Amazes the Hospital Doctors.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Having lived four months with a broken back, Mrs. Annie Klaus died early yesterday at her home, 1138 Washington avenue. Her husband entered her room to make her comfortable before starting to work, and found her dead.

Mrs. Klaus fell off a porch in June. She was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital, where her death was expected momentarily. Doctors said that she continued to live through sheer will power.

They told her that she could not get well, but she refused to believe them, and insisted upon being taken home. Although paralyzed from her waist down, she made them prop her up in bed, and there she made clothes for her children.

PELTED SISTER-IN-LAW WITH BAKED POTATOES

Jersey Man Used Brother's Wife for a Target During a Domestic Quarrel.

BEVERLY, N. J., Nov. 6.—Charged with pelting his sister-in-law with baked potatoes during a domestic quarrel, Louis Linder was held for trial today by Squire Jones. Joseph Linder, a baker and husband of the complainant, was held on a charge of assault.

"When I went home, after an absence of four months, because of a quarrel," said Mrs. Linder, who is yet in her teens, "there was no plate for me at the table. It was my home, so I just put a plate on and sat down.

"Joe called me some hard names and then hit me several times. His mother was there and urged him on.

"Louis was at the table, too. He said: 'Get out of here, or I'll blow your brains out!' I couldn't stand that, so left the room. Louis began pelting me with baked spuds. They were just out of the oven and he was a pretty good shot. I was spattered with potato from head to foot."

Joseph Linder is much older than his wife. They have separated several times within the year they have been married.

OLD WOMAN SUFFERS DEATH SHE DREADED

Is Suffocated by Gas as She Lay in Her Bed, Just as She Had Feared.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 6.—Always having a horror of death from inhaling gas, it was strange that Mrs. Mary Balles, eighty-five years old, of Pittston, should die from asphyxiation. That is what happened early this morning.

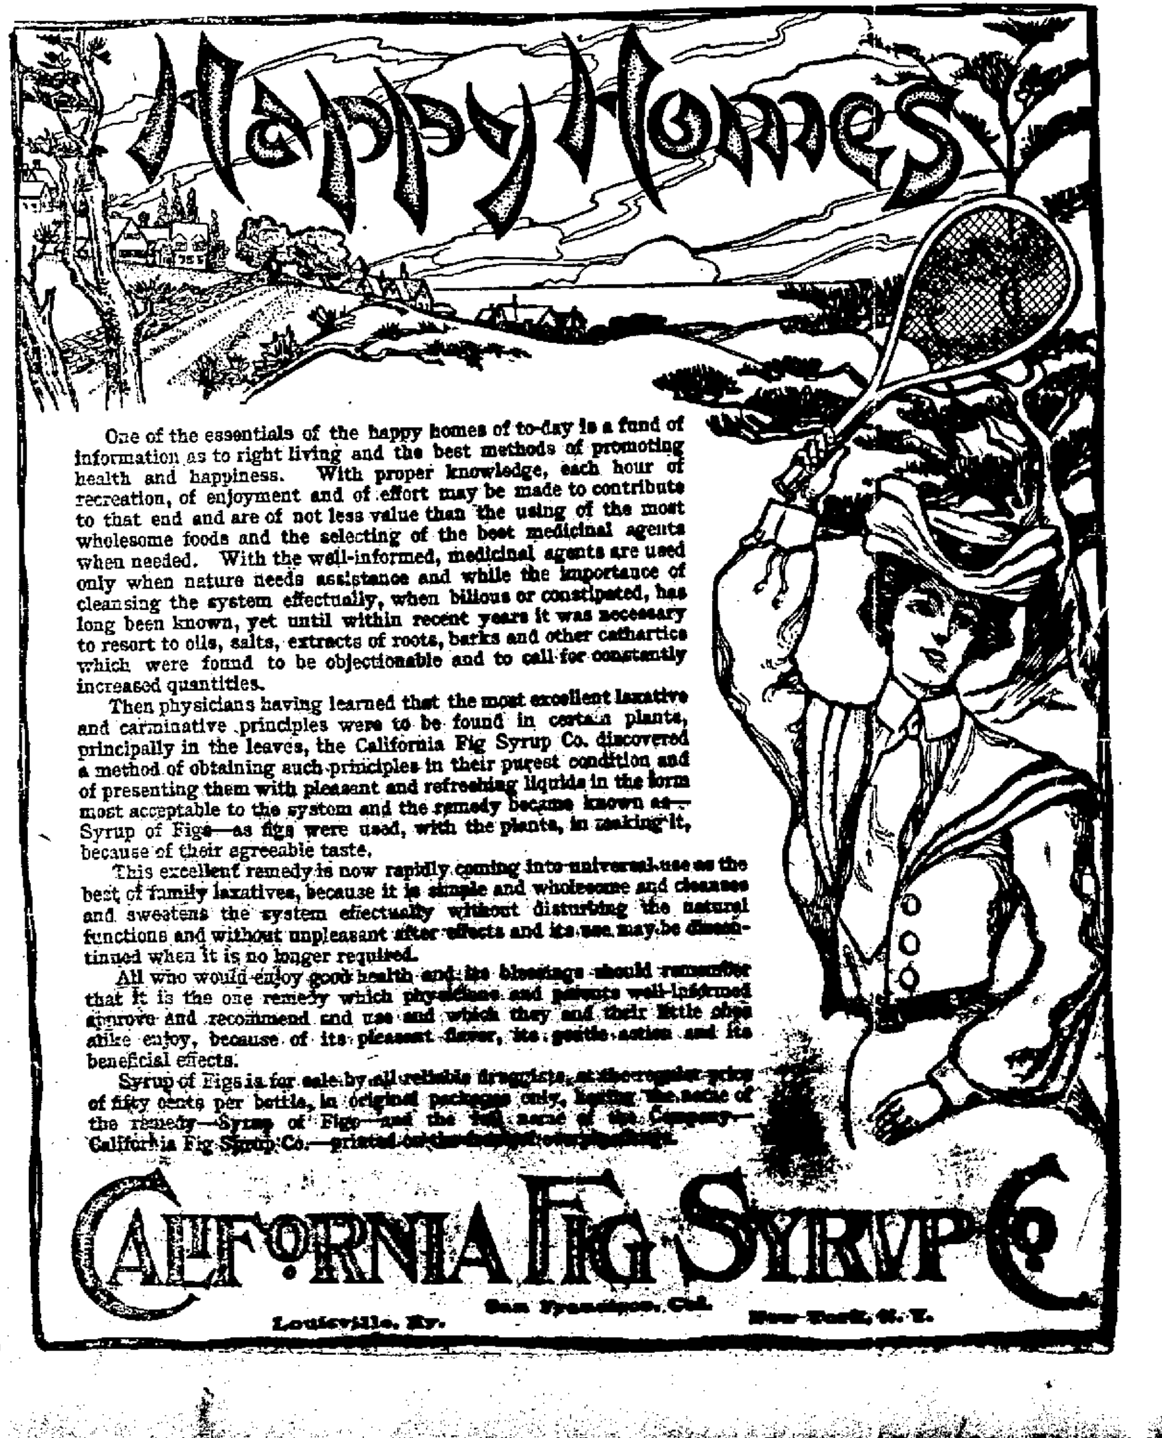
For years Mrs. Balles had warned the members of the family against carelessness in using gas. Tuesday night she retired at her usual time, and this morning the door to her room was burst open and she was found dead.

One of the gas jets was turned on, and it is believed that her feeble fingers turned the valve on when she thought she was turning it off.

TOOK TOO MUCH SKIN; HE DEMANDS $10,000

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—William G. Doll, who alleges that an amount of cuticle much greater than bargained for was taken from him under a skin-grafting contract, entered suit today for $10,000 damages against J. S. Atkins, George A. Fackler and John C. Oliver, the latter two prominent Cincinnta physicians and surgeons.

The plaintiff says he agreed that a strip of skin one by six inches should be taken from his leg, but while he was under the iffluence of an anaesthetic skin was cut from both legs to the extent of forty-two inches. The case grows out of an automobile accident in which Atkins was injured and it was for his benefit the skin was taken.



One of the essentials of the happy homes of to-day is a fund of information as to right living and the best methods of promoting health and happiness. With proper knowledge, each hour of recreation, of enjoyment and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and are of not less value than the using of the most wholesome foods and the selecting of the best medicinal agents when needed. With the well-informed, medicinal agents are used only when nature needs assistance and while the importance of cleansing the system effectually, when bilious or constipated, has long been known, yet until within recent years it was necessary to resort to oils, salts, extracts of roots, barks and other cathartics which were found to be objectionable and to call for constantly increased quantities.

Then physicians having learned that the most excellent laxative and carminative principles were to be found in certain plants, principally in the leaves, the California Fig Syrup Co. discovered a method of obtaining such principles in their purest condition and of presenting them with pleasant and refreshing liquids in the form most acceptable to the system and the remedy became known as—Syrup of Figs—as figs were used, with the plants, in making it, because of their agreeable taste.

This excellent remedy is now rapidly coming into universal use as the best of family laxatives, because it is simple and wholesome and cleanses and sweetens the system effectually without disturbing the natural functions and without unpleasant after effects and its use may be discontinued when it is no longer required.

All who would enjoy good health and its blessings should remember that it is the one remedy which physicians and parents well-informed approve and recommend and use and which they and their little ones alike enjoy, because of its pleasant flavor, its gentle action and its beneficial effects.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all reliable druggists, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, in original packages only, having the name of the remedy—Syrup of Figs—and the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package.

THE ONLY WAY TO KEEP COOK

Economist Says Some One Must Invent a Pot Scrubber

CHICAGO Nov 6—The average school teacher is not as well paid as the average servant girl says Professor L M Rabinow in the Journal of Political Economy issued from the University of Chicago press

He explains that servants are at a premium because women dislike to be domestics

Experienced servants the professor finds object more to the long hours than to the social inequality and he suggests that domestic help be paid so that they may live at home

The population has increased twice as fast as the number of servants The total number of women employed in gainful occupations has increased 200 per cent but the number of women servants and waiters has grown less than 50 per cent

He thinks invention might solve the problem The genius who shall invent an automatic dish washer and pot scrubber will be a true benefactor of mankind he asserts

BUILDING FOR AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

EFFORT BEING MADE TO OBTAIN AID FROM LEGISLATURE

Pamphlets Will Be Distributed Containing Arguments of Students

BERKELEY Nov 6—A campaign for the purpose of interesting members of the State Legislature in the college of agriculture with the hope of securing an appropriation for a new building on the campus has been undertaken by members of the Agricultural Club of the State University

BERKELEY Nov 6—After serving on the faculty of the University of Iowa for a year Professor H J Quayle who acquired fame by ridding the country from San Mateo to South San Francisco of mosquitoes has been induced to return once more to the University of California He arrived in Berkeley last week

Quayle graduated from the State University in 1903 and in response to a request from the residents of Burlingame for some one to undertake the work of mosquito control in that locality he was sent to the seat of trouble by Professor C W Woodworth of the department of entomology of the university

By attacking the insects in the marshy country Quayle succeeded in entirely exterminating them This year a few mosquitoes are reappearing because of a broken dyke that has not been repaired

Quayle is the author of two entomological publications one of the spraying of scale insects and the other on mosquito control It was only by doubling his salary and raising his rank that the University was able to have the mosquito wizard once more back in California

BELMONT DANCE COST ONLY 25C

Millionaires Give Fresco Ball for Benefit of Hempstead Church.

For the trifling sum of 25 cents many danced last week at Mrs Oliver H P Belmont's Mrs Belmont's ball at bargain prices was the masterpiece of the Brockholt fair near Hempstead, which was held for the benefit of the church at East Meadow L I

The wives of most of the millionaires of the neighborhood were interested in the enterprise and among those who assisted were Mrs Clarence H Mackay Mrs William K Vanderbilt Jr Mrs William B Leeds, Mrs. William G Park, Mrs George Rose, Mrs Sidney Smith Mrs John B. Morris and Mrs R. Livingston Beeckman Mrs Mackay donated sumptuous gowns and wraps which were quite the same as new and these fetched large prices on their merit The Vanderbilts gave live stock and Mr Belmont bought enough groceries to furnish a store These articles were sold at gay booths presided over by the fashionable women

The fair was held in the magnificent barn of the Oliver H. P Belmont estate and the upper floor of the house was fitted as a ballroom Bunting and flags floated from the oaken rafters and a fine band provided "Waltz Me Around Again Willie," "He's My Pal" and other music of the moment

100 FRESHMEN LEVELING BIG GRIDIRON

CALIFORNIA FIELD WILL BE IN CONDITION FOR FOOTBALL GAME.

Work is Being Supervised by 25 Students From College of Mining.

BERKELEY Nov 6—One hundred freshmen students and twenty five members of the college of mining at the University of California are working today on California Field in order that there may be nothing in the way of holding the intercollegiate football game on the Berkeley campus next Saturday The freshmen are doing the work of laborers while the mining students are acting as foremen or engineers To still further insure the completion of the work by next Saturday, a night shift will work at grading and leveling beginning tonight. This of course will be composed chiefly of professional laborers Manager Snedigar said today with reference to the work that has been done on the field

"It is now a certainty that California Field will be finished by November 10 so that the big game will come off as formerly announced Ten men are at present employed at staking, fifteen at moving the bleachers and twenty at grading This is a full force and every effort is being made to do the work as rapidly as possible If the field had not been finished the playing ground would have to have been nearer to one side of the field than to the other This would of necessity make the gridiron as much as possible on the old surface which would bring the side lines about sixty feet from the California bleachers This of course would only be temporary but it would have been necessary for this year's game The fact that the field will be completed, however obviates this difficulty When finished the dimensions of California field will be 400 feet by 325 feet"

TWENTY HORSES ARE GUESTS AT A SUPPER

NEW YORK Nov 6—Harry S Ladew is undoubtedly entitled to the palm as the originator of a supper idea that is unique

At his country home Glen Cove L I Saturday night he gave a spread which was attended by forty guests biped and twenty guests quadruped

And in addition there were two guests thespian

It was all in celebration of his success as an exhibitor at the Piping Rock Horse show

The dining room of his large house was fitted up to look like a stable and around the sides were twenty box stalls in which twenty ponies munched oats out of silver wine coolers

In the center of the room was a horseshoe table at which the guests [illegible] sat being served by waiters dressed as grooms Just before the flag fell to indicate that the first course was in order two pony carts were driven into the room by two actresses said to be identified with a Broadway theater Being lifted from their seats in the carts they joined the company and the ponies that had brought them there were led away

Among Mr Ladew's guests were Mr and Mrs Berry Wall Mr and Mrs John A Drake Mr and Mrs Willetts and George Morrison

The menu cards were miniature horse blankets and the souvenirs were [illegible] mounted hunting crops for the ladies and silver spurs for the men

It was the first pony supper ever held but it was so successful that others are being planned already

PERFECTION OF FACE AND FORM

From the earliest time of which we have any record beauty of face and beauty of form have been coveted by the feminine heart

Our grandmothers worshiped just as ardently perhaps at the shrine of Beauty as we do today but consider the handicap laid upon the good dames of that period! They had to resort to such primitive methods as lay in the virtue of asses' milk and baths of May morning dew to keep at bay the dreaded tell tale wrinkle lines so prone to record themselves upon a woman's face

How vastly different now!

Indeed Nature hygiene and modern chemistry seem to have formed a mighty triune to preserve intact the beauty and charm of the twentieth century woman. Pre-eminent amongst a bewildering array of dainty toilet accessories designed for this purpose stand Vaucaire Galega Tablets and Melorose Cream (compounded by the Willard White Company of Chicago) Not only does the secret of a beautiful bust hide in the Vaucaire Galega Tablets but they are strongly endorsed by eminent physicians as a tonic and flesh food of unusual merit Melorose Cream represents the very acme of a delicate and effective skin food and should be on the toilet table of every woman —American Woman's Review

Developing Bust and Chest

Deep breathing helps greatly in developing the chest Every morning upon arising take in at least 50 deep breaths, holding each while you can count ten, at night before retiring do the same thing afterwards massage with Melorose cream, and three times a day take Willard White Co's Vaucaire Galega Tablets Drink plenty of cold water avoid all drinks containing acids and within a month the bust measure will have increased to the extent of several inches —Mlle Merlyn, Editor Woman's Page, Buffalo Times

WE DO NOT put The Vaucaire remedy up in liquid form, as the TABLETS ARE SUPERIOR Unlike the liquid they DO NOT FERMENT OR UPSET THE STOMACH and do not nauseate One box of our tablets nearly equals three bottles of liquid.

BRITT WANTS TO FIGHT NELSON

TONOPAH Nov 6—H M Riley head of the Casino Athletic Clubs of his city and the man who is promoting the Gans Herman bout in this city for January announced today that the articles signed by the men in Chicago a few days ago are on their way here for his consideration The purse of $20 000 has been raised here and the probabilities are that the fight will be pulled off as planned though Riley will make no positive statement until he has considered the articles

Riley today heard from Willie Britt in San Francisco The message contained an offer to match Jimmy Britt with either Gans or Nelson Willie declared that such a fight would draw a $[illegible]0 000 house in San Francisco and wanted to know what Riley would offer Riley is interested in the other match and has made no decision in regard to Britt He wired Britt today, but did not make public his reply

Riley is planning to build a permanent area for sports here if the Gans Herman bout goes through He is aiming at a heavyweight contest in July and it is believed he would match Jeffries and Johnson for that date From the attitude of local men toward the proposed fights it seems certain that no difficulty will be felt in securing whatever funds are wanted

Offers of a match between Abe Attell and Jimmy Walsh on Thanksgiving day also have been received by Riley He replied that he could not pull off any fight on that date but would consider the proposition as a preliminary to the Gans-Herman scrap

MAKES FORTUNE OUT OF CHEAP MARES

SHREWD YOUNG FARMER CREATES SUCCESSFUL CAREER.

Grows Rich in Horse Breeding Business in Just a Few Years

LEXINGTON, Ky Nov 6—Horsemen here are discussing the wonderfully successful career of John W Nash, a young farmer of this county who has grown rich in the trotting horse breeding business in less than four years About the time Roger Early picked up a young mare for $2[illegible] and bred her to Moko the champion sire of colt trotters Soon after Early decided that any money he had in trotting mares was better invested otherwise so he let Nash have the young stud matron at a slightly advanced price

The foal she was then carrying proved to be Susie N 2 09¼ the champion 3 year-old of 1905 and Nash sold her as a 2 year-old for $6000 The mare now known to breeding annals as Gypsy Dark was bred by Nash the next season to Walnut Hall but proved barren and he then sent her to Todd and she threw a black colt now a 2 year-old This youngster named Northern Man, Nash declined to sell at $5000 during the recent Kentucky Breeders Association meeting here and with him Nash will make a bid for 3-year-old futurity honors in 1907 He will be trained by Richard Curtis of Pamlico fame Gypsy Dark was barren again in 1905 when bred to The Bondsman but she dropped a bay filly last spring by Moko and this weanling Nash sold during the trotting meeting here for $2500, the biggest price paid for a trotter of her age in years Gypsy Dark is now again sure in foal to Moko, and Nash has her booked to L V Harkness' mighty stallion again in 1907

OFFERED FORTUNE

He has in the last few days been offered a fortune for the great young mare but he has no idea of parting with her at any price She is now only eight years old She was never developed for speed but to a road wagon without training she can show a three-minute clip on the road Nash's good fortune does not end with Gypsy Dark. For a song he picked up her half-sister the mare Williewood, and the other day he sold a weanling out of her for $1000 and now he has the mare sure in foal to Todd Before Susie N showed so sensationally he also slipped away from home and bought her grand dam, Zulu, by Electric Benton, for a mere pittance and this mare has since produced the 3-year-old Vandetta, a starter this season in both the Stock Farm and Horse Review futurities, and in a few days Nash will likely sell him for $5000, as several Eastern horsemen are negotiating for him.

Mauro Herrero who with Henry League will furnish the main event, has announced that he is already in good condition and that he will be able to give a good account of himself Friday night As Herrera depends upon his aggressiveness to win his battles it is necessary for him to be in fair shape to give a good account of his fighting power He however, is a very moderate liver and with his natural strength needs little training to get himself in good condition

League is now in good shape and only seems anxious for the sound of the bell to start the contest Henry's confidence is unbounded and he will enter the ring with a do-or-die determination

The special events have attracted considerable attention owing to the fact that the fans are to be treated to the novelty of seeing strange faces in each event The seats are to be placed on sale tomorrow morning

'VARSITY BARS SECRET WORK

STANFORD UNIVERSITY Nov 6—Coach Lanagan has decided that the 'varsity will need no secret practice this year The big men will not do mysterious stunts behind barred gates at Stanford for the first time in many years The new game does not call for a long and complicated system of signals and the tricks of the Cardinals will be tried in the open

The work of the varsity this week will be light Wednesday afternoon the last scrum will be held and Thursday the men will take it easy Friday the entire squad will go upon an all-day trip into the foothills

The men are trained to the hour and are in fine fettle The team will go upon the field Saturday barring any accidents in the next two days as fit as experience and the best of care can make them

SALT LAKE IS READY TO JOIN

President Eugene F Bert of the Pacific Coast Baseball League has received a letter from H H Sanborn, secretary of the street railway company of Salt Lake City Utah, asking that Salt Lake be admitted into the Coast League next season Sanborn writes in behalf of Salt Lake business men who are interested in the sport, and declares that if the proposition is accepted the club would be backed by unlimited wealth With the letter Sanborn incloses a map showing the relative distances from Los Angeles to all the towns in the league He points out that Salt Lake is nearer to Los Angeles than Portland, and suggests that the teams could be taken in almost a circle through the various cities which he proposes should constitute the league

President Bert stated yesterday that he would submit Salt Lake's proposal to the league directors at the annual meeting to be held in Los Angeles on December [illegible]th He said however that he believed the plan would not be feasible The jumps between the league cities are so great now that the profits are eaten up in railroad expenses and he does not believe the expense of the long trip to Salt Lake could be borne

Cal Ewing president of the San Francisco Club announced yesterday that he had signed his first player for 190[illegible] Kid Mohler was closeted with Ewing yesterday morning and when the conference closed Ewing had the fast little second-baseman's signature to a contract

AMUSEMENTS

As was predicted in these columns early last week the "Tar and Tartar" production at Idora Park is proving a drawing card and will likely have a long run. The work is running much smoother than it did the first night, and will be one of the productions that will make operatic history in Oakland, just as many operas made history that all lovers of music love to recall when the Old Tivoli of San Francisco is mentioned. Reputations are being made here and some future top liners are receiving the encouragement that makes the game worth while. Lovers of a good song well sung will admit that Walter de Leon's singing of "My Honeysuckle Love" a few weeks ago in "Johnny Comes Marching Home" gave promise of the good work he is doing now. Joseph Fogarty and de Leon are a show of themselves. Keep your eye on de Leon and you will see the growth of an artist. He is not the first that Hartman and Paul Steindorff have trained. Sybil Page, Arthur Cunningham and Eugene Wal[illegible] the musical honors of the [illegible] though the latter has some very [illegible] isms especially in at[illegible] notes. In contrast to this [illegible] Holmes as Alpace the [illegible] sacrifices her art for effect and of course does not get the applause she deserves but nevertheless her singing and acting shows the artist in every syllable. Made up as the swarthy complexioned Moorish Queen Miss Holmes with her great blue eyes presents an odd but very pleasing appearance. Miss Hope Mayne is the [illegible] cute member of the caste and her acting as well as her singing is good. She will soon gain the same place in the affections of opera goers that was so long held by Annie Meyers at the old Tivoli. Worthy of [illegible] seems to be the standard set by the management. They are certainly near that ideal in "Tar and Tartar." Of course the public theater goers are the goal keepers in this game and it is up to them to give the patronage that will make Oakland unique among cities in having [illegible] all the year round opera season. A word to the management: Isn't it unlikely to have the box office closed from five to seven? The down town office closes at five and seats cannot be had by telephone or otherwise until seven. The powers that be are endeavoring to give us metropolitan performances, let them give the public a metropolitan chance to get there.

MACDONOUGH

The Elleford Company appeared at the Macdonough last night and was enthusiastically welcomed by a crowded house. The program was "At [illegible] of His [illegible]" [illegible] but very popular in the East. It possesses an exciting and [illegible] story and contains many thrilling situations and [illegible]. Its reception was of the most flattering character and [illegible] mistakable hit. The production was picturesque and complete and the cast excellent. As the Hero [illegible] Norval MacGregor found [illegible] acted in his usual manly [illegible] manner. Agnes Williams as [illegible] was highly satisfactory as Marion Chalmers. James Corrigan [illegible] the [illegible] success [illegible] Earl Rand [illegible] Cranshaw his impersonation of which was simply splendid. Georgia Woodthorpe was effective and [illegible] Helen Dingerfield. Estelle Wardell won [illegible] hearts [illegible] Maitland provided [illegible] comedy [illegible] Beverly Pirton.

William P. Adams [illegible] important factor [illegible] was excellent as [illegible]. Fisdale causes lots of laughter. His [illegible] footman and [illegible]. Between the second and third [illegible] Patterson, a strikingly handsome girl with a phenomenal [illegible] sang several [illegible] encores.

"At [illegible] of His [illegible]" will be continued till Sunday night which will [illegible] the [illegible] of the Elleford engagement.

PIEDMONT RINK

Monohan at Piedmont Rink

People are sometimes warned against setting [illegible] high standard or so high a pace that they cannot [illegible] it up. If the Piedmont Skating Rink is not open to such a criticism in connection with this week's offering of attractions it is because they intend to keep the public fairly satiated with excitement and high class performances in the future.

Two star attractions in the way of great skaters each giving [illegible] besides races, hockey games, grand marches and other items of interest are scheduled for the gratification of the public and the week bids fair to be a busy one for the rink.

The Great Monohan, who has just come here from a recent [illegible] at the famous hippodrome, New York, is the headliner of the bill and Miss Jessie Darling, another clever [illegible] skater, runs the star a close second. Both artists made their initial bow last night before an immense crowd and both were given a magnificent reception. In addition there was a race for the ladies championship of the coast between Miss Louise Jones, the champion, and Miss Bessie Barton of San Francisco, challenger.

Monohan certainly is entitled to his sobriquet "The Great," for that is what the spectators styled his performance last night. He introduced many new acts and was so graceful in his two stepping and waltzing as to call forth unstinted praise from the onlookers while his more difficult feats evoked storms of applause. Of course Monohan jumps three chairs at intervals of only a few feet and besides his fancy work has a toe act that is unique. He uses skates with only toe rollers attached, during which he threads the forest maze, that is wends his way through numerous rows of upright lighted candles, the rink being darkened, gives a fireworks scene that is almost indescribable, introduces a long toe spin and jumps two chairs. He claims to be the only fancy skater before the public who attempts this last feat. Monohan has a different costume for every night he announces.

Miss Darling's work was no less astonishing for a woman than Monohan's for a man and brought forth great enthusiasm.

The race between Miss Jones and Miss [illegible] was won by Miss Jones in four [illegible] the champion winning on [illegible].

LAKESIDE RINK

Some of the most wonderful skating [illegible] for that matter [illegible] in any city [illegible] the country was [illegible] at the Lakeside rink last night when Professor Charles Tyler [illegible] Bessie Barton made their first appearance before an Oakland crowd [illegible] lovers of such amusement. The [illegible] was [illegible] thronged with [illegible] to see every moment [illegible] but when the artists who [illegible] have been brought here [illegible] expense [illegible] started their exhibition every spectator was breathless and [illegible] the pause in the [illegible] necessary to witness the performance.

To say that Mr. Tyler and his accomplished [illegible] are stars [illegible] to put it [illegible]. When it is known that [illegible] who [illegible] exhibition [illegible] last night [illegible] have seen so many brilliant [illegible] of the skaterial art [illegible] went crazy so to speak over [illegible] some idea of the [illegible] of the clever folks work may [illegible].

Tyler has received many warm and [illegible] encomiums as a result of his work [illegible] other places but he has never [illegible] the [illegible] last evening. Expressions of surprise and admiration were heard on every hand and the applause at the close of the act was spontaneous and vociferous.

Some of the feats of Tyler are very peculiar, as for instance when he goes through several stunts with Miss Barton twined about his waist. Miss Barton also does some exceptionally startling acts standing on her head at [illegible] time [illegible] executing other feats that show great skill, daring and originality. Altogether the couple bid fair to become [illegible] popular before their all too short stay is ended as the most favored matinee idol of the big theaters.

Next week there is to be another stupendous attraction at the Lakeside—the kind that makes you say "Hold your breath and hitch your horses." The Rexos, probably the most famous trick and fancy skaters known to the world of rollers, are to come to Oakland. Some of their feats are so daring and awe inspiring that the mere [illegible] of them makes them seem impossibilities. Practically every one of their stunts is new and they have [illegible] a veritable furore wherever they have shown their performance. Manager Young says he has been compelled to pay the biggest sum he has ever given a performer or a team of them to secure the Rexos.

AT THE NOVELTY

Oakland's popular vaudeville theater, the Novelty, has again this week a [illegible] of world renown in the smallest woman in the world, Cliquita. This little woman who stands but twenty six inches high and weighs but thirty pounds is not a dwarf but simply a midget perfectly formed and in possession of all her faculties. She offers a [illegible] history of her life and several [illegible] and pleasing songs and dances that [illegible] instruct and interest both the old and the young. In addition this little woman holds receptions in the foyer of the theater at the conclusion of each second performance and at that time every one who desires may have a chance to shake hands with the most talked about woman in the world.

The balance of the performance is more than good and includes the following artists: Tuscano Brothers, expert manipulators and jugglers of sharp [illegible] battle axes. Their act is a startling one that merits much applause. Hammond and Forestre, the fashion plate duo, offer a refined singing, talking and character act that meets with the approval of the audience. Margaret Newton and company in their musical comedy in Swedish dialect pleases. The Bell Boy Trio, a fast and furious bunch of fun makers, certainly keep the crowd in an uproar while they are on the stage. They are the best singers, dancers and comedians seen in these houses in many moons and are destined to quickly become popular favorites. Two new reels of imported motion pictures complete a bill that for variety of entertainment would be hard to beat at any price, and if you want to see a show well worth spending some time to see don't fail to attend the Novelty this week.

Mines which ere optimistically capitalized at ,000,000 are developing into bonanzas ith $50,000,000 or more in sight, and rther untold millions in undoubted rospect. As fast as the stock in any ine is put upon the market it is oversubscribed twenty times over and dou- es in value with almost incredible wiftness. The whole country is buying oldfield stocks to such an extent that e orders pouring in upon all local rokers keep thirty operators in this own working day and night. A tidal ave is the only adequate metaphor descriptive of these conditions as they ctually exist.

To dimly realize the effect this boom having on the fortunes of every man nd woman who invested even the most eager sums in Goldfield stocks, whether uring the last year or as late as yeserday, one does not have to travel farher than the nearest corner of a Goldeld street. In every store, or restaurant, r saloon, visible from the corner chosen, here is somebody who is richer by just o many hundreds of thousands of dolrs than he was a month ago. The ootblack who owns the little stand at rook and Main streets, paid $140 for 00 shares of Silver Pick last August, nd sold his holdings last Saturday at net profit of $350. The barber who an be seen working at the chair nearst the window, a few doors beyond, nade what he thought was a daring nvestment last July, by borrowing $370 ith which to buy 500 shares of Comination Fraction. Last Wednesday afternoon he sold his stock, repaid his loan nd put $1750 in the bank.

In the offices of the big concerns, like hose of the Sullivan Trust Company, fr instance, it is the simple fact that very stenographer, every clerk, every ookkeeper, has made a big or little pot f money by investments in the mining tocks of either Goldfield, Tonopah, Fairiew or Manhattan; investments, espeially some of those made by the young oman, of the most haphazard character. particularly interesting case is aforded by Tommy Nugent, the 17-yearld office boy employed by this firm. About a year ago, Tommy, who has been arning his own bread since he was 1[illegible], pent the $100 which he had painfully aved out of the earnings of four years, nd another $100 which he received as his share of a dead uncle's estate, for 000 shares of Mohawk. As may be eadily reckoned, the price per share for his stock when Tommy bought it, was 0c. Last Wednesday afternoon this ofice boy sold his Mohawk holdings for 30,000 in cold cash.

Other reapings in Mohawk recorded in he Sullivan office were those of Mary Ryan, for sixteen years a servant in Larry Sullivan's household, and of Mrs. Peter Grant, whose husband is Larry Sullivan's partner. It happened that oth these purchases of Mohawk were made on the same day, the day, curiousy enough, when Tommy got his tip from is boss, who is credited with a "cleanp" of a cold million on the rise in Mohawk. Mary, who had saved $500 rom her sixteen years of toil, and who aid she had bought Mohawk because he "got such a lot av ut for th' money," old her little block of 5000 shares yesterday for $75,000. Mrs. Grant, who explained to her friends that she had spent 300 on Mohawk, "because it was such tempting bargain," realized $45,000.

Stories of luck like this could be written around Goldfield by the ream. And, indeed, considering the circumstances, this luck is only a part of a ig spectacle. The palmiest days of the Comstock lode, the halcyon era of Mackey, Flood and O'Brien, the best that ver could be said of Cripple Creek, these were pale and spineless sagas compared with the saga that is being sung of Goldfield. What has happened to the Mohawk has happened only in a slightly ess degree to the Jumbo, the Red Top, the Silver Pick, the Laguna, the Combination Fraction. And what has happened to those mines, say the wise ones, s a bagatelle besides what will happen to the Lou Dillon and the Silver Pick Extension nested right in the middle of the other big winners and yielding gold to the scratch of a rake. And what is happening to these Goldfield mines is also happening at Tonopah to the Tonopah mining, the Montana, the Tonopah Extension and the Belmont; happening at the Fairview to the Nevada Hills, the Eagle, the Eagle's Nest, and the Hallstone; happening at Manhattan to the Consolidated, Stray Dog, the Jumping Jack, Indian Camp, and the As-You-Like-It. Surely these are great days for Nevada, with the greatest yet to come.

Is this a Fair ?

CONSIDERABLE INTEREST has been aroused of late among large advertisers as to the merits of certain publications in Oakland. Let's find the truth!

HERE'S A PROPOSITION: Take SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE—notice that 46,956 lines of advertising were published—compare any other publication in Northern California—and it will be shown that no other paper approaches this.

HERE'S ANOTHER— Consult any merchant or Real Estate Dealer as to which paper brings the returns— These two important facts prove conclusively that the paper that has the patronage is the paper that leads in circulation.

YOU CONCEDE THIS— That the paper that carries the greatest number of help wanted, houses for sale and other classified ads is the most widely circulated.

ONE DETECTIVE FIGHTS THREE

Locks Himself in Room With Thieves and Battles Till They Surrender.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 6.—Emil Pensch, John Seaman and Bruno Pettingill, giving their address as No. 111 East Fourteenth street, New York, were arrested by Detective Sergeant Charles Pilger today after a desperate struggle. William Little, with whom the men boarded, reported that he had been robbed of a gold watch and chain and $250. The detective went to the house and entered the room of the men, interrupting a game of poker.

They made a rush for him, but he felled one with a blackjack and locked the door. He used the weapon on the other two, but not before they had landed on the officer. He pulled his revolver and they surrendered.

The chain of the watch was found outside a window of the room.

COP AS A PALMIST MAKES THIEF CONFESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The art of palmistry as practiced by Policeman Barrett of this city was the undoing of Viola Williams, colored. Lena Harris missed some clothing, and circumstances pointed to Viola. Barrett took her in custody, but the evidence against her was slight and Viola was full of injured innocence.

"Let me see your hand," said Barrett. "I am a palmist, and can read it."

Viola stuck it out, with evident misgiving. Barrett studied it portentiously.

"H—m," he mused. "You have a long life line. The love line here shows that you are in love with a good-looking colored man. This line here shows that you have traveled some, and will travel more. You must beware of a tall dark man."

"What's this?" exclaimed the policeman, scrutinizing the palm more closely. "This clothesline shows that you like clothes, and I see by it that you were around Lena Harris's house this morning and saw some clothing there that you wanted, and you—"

"Fo' God, Mistuh Policeman, you is a witch. All dem tings is true," cried Viola, getting pallid. "I done took dem close, and I'll fess up."

Viola was sentenced to sixty days in jail at the police court today. Prior to her confession there was no evidence against her except that she had been seen near the house at the time of the larceny.

WALDORF ASSESSED $4350 FOR HOT BIRDS

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The case against the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria, in which it was charged that the proprietors or lessees of the hotel had in their possession 174 English pheasants, was decided against the hotel yesterday in the Supreme Court.

The penalty for having pheasants is $25 for each bird. A penalty is also prescribed for serving birds, but it was shown that in this case the seizure of the pheasants was made before they were served, and the penalty of $60 for this offense was, therefore, not inflicted.

The defense was set up that the law is unconstitutional, as it discriminated against portions of the State by declaring that there should be no close season for English pheasants, and that they should not be killed, except in Suffolk county, before the year 1910.

Justice Greenbaum sustained the law and directed that the defendant pay the full amount of the penalties prescribed.

Even if the law be unconstitutional in certain respects, the court held it may be otherwise constitutional, and the legislature had the right to enact a law of the character in question.

$50,000 IS FOUND IN A GYPSY CAMP

CARMI, Ill., Nov. 6—On complaint of Gus Mitchell, a gypsy, a warrant was sworn out yesterday for the recovery of $1000 which Mitchell claimed had been stolen from him by a rival band of gypsies. Taking a dozen deputies, all heavily armed, Sheriff Grisscom went to the camp and began to search. In the first wagon examined more than $1000 was found, mostly in gold. The second wagon contained the richest treasure, $15,000 in gold being found.

A certificate of deposit for $25,000 issued by the First National bank of Chicago was found. On sixty-four men searched several smaller certificates were found. More than $50,000 in gold and curency was found in the camp. The officers were amazed at the display of wealth, but were unable to identify Mitchell's alleged loss.

"JOKE" FOR GOVERNOR TO COST IOWA $5000

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 6.—Because several hundred persons signed his petition, "just for a joke," the name of Andrew Townsend Hisey of Tama county will go upon the Iowa official ballot as the "Secular Government" candidate for Governor.

Hisey is a harmless crank who with a wheelbarrow travels from town to town and expounds fantastic theories of government on the street corners. His name will necessitate an extra column on the ballot and will cost the State $5000.

CHARITY WORKER WEDS RICH MAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Miss Mina C. Ginger of Newark, who has been identified with philanthropic and charitable work in this city, was married on Saturday afternoon to Abramah Van Winkle, president of the Hanson & Van Winkle Company, one of the oldest and best known manufacturing chemical concerns in the East. Mr. Van Winkle is wealthy.

Miss Ginger, who at one time was a public school teacher, and later was in charge of one of the girls' cottages at the City Home, Verona, was engaged by the Bureau of Associated Charities some time ago as a special secretary to collect funds for aiding the poor.

In the course of her travels she met Mr. Van Winkle, who is well known for his philanthrophy. He gave her a check for the work on her first visit much larger, it is said, than other solicitors might have received. This was because Mr. Van Winkle was attracted by her sincerity.

The fact that Mr. Van Winkle is close to the seventies, while Miss Ginger is only about twenty-seven did not prove any barrier when they realized that the friendship that had sprung up between them had ripened into love.

Miss Ginger's aged suitor placed at her dispopsal his automobile and chauffeur, and in this she made her rounds soliciting aid for the poor.

ECONOMICAL DRESSING.

How the French Woman Who Lives on Next to Nothing Solves the Problem.

Here is a very important thing about the clothes of the Frenchwoman. The dress problem of the woman who lives on next to nothing a year is just as serious, is just as definitely worked out, as is that of the woman of wealth. Both have identically the same aim in dress—to please; yes, if the whole truth be told, to please men—mere men, because the avowed aim of every Frenchwoman is to be happily married, and she is far too simple and sincere in character to assume that it is possible to be happy with a man unless one is pleasing in his sight.

If I could impart to my countrywomen just one idea by which the Frenchwoman's dress is determined it would be this—know thyself. From force of habit, unconsciously, but none the less intelligently and thoroughly, the Frenchwoman analyzes and understands not only all her physical points, but all the details of her position in life, before she undertakes to arrange her wardrobe. It is in this way that her toilette attains its unique character of suitability. What she wears suits not only her face and figure, but the place she occupies in society and the use to which she is put in that place. If, therefore, you, my sister in Seattle, or in Springfield, would like to make your wardrobe thoroughly Parisian, begin by studying yourself, and, above all, fearlessly admit your limitations, this to the end of adorning them.—Harper's Bazaar.

Send For My Market Letter

Goldfield, Nev., Nov. 1, 1906.

In the interests of my clients I have spent the past week in Goldfield. The market is so active here and so much information to be obtained that I will not be able to return to Oakland in time to write my advertisement, and therefore am sending this by wire. I have picked up a lot of information which I want my clients to know about. Look back over my market letters and see if I have not been about right on Mohawk, Silver Pick and a lot of others. We are in the midst of the greatest market known since the early days of the Comstock, and there are things you will want to know about. There are new combinations and new strikes being made every day. I will not be back to my office in time to get out my usual Monday market letter. It will not be mailed before Tuesday night, but it will be worth your while to read it. Send your name and address. The letter will cost you nothing, and may put you in the way of making a lot of money.

CALL COST HIM $6000

Georgia Colonel Victim of Badger Game in New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Col. Aubrey Fedden returned to his cotton plantation near Savannah last night poorer by some $6,000 but richer in experience of the ancient pastime known as the badger game.

The colonel came to town last week and, so he said yesterday, put through a lucrative deal. He had $6,000 of the spoils in his pocket last Friday night when he left the Saranac Hotel for a walk down Main street.

He stopped in front of the Broadway theatre to look at the photographs of "The Prince of India." As he stood there a pretty young woman (the colonel declared she was pretty), stepped up and asked him the time. She said (the colonel admited that she was affable, although she looked refined and even demure) that she had an appointment to meet friends who were to have taken her to the theatre, but they had failed to appear.

"You shan't be disappointed, madam," said the gallant colonel. "I will get two seats if you will do me the honor to go with me."

They saw "The Prince of India" together and then had a bit of supper. By that time they were such friends that the colonel gladly accepted an invitation to the young woman's rooms in West Twenty-ninth street.

It was warm, the colonel says, and he took off his coat. The young woman assumed a tasteful tea jacket and they sat down to a game of dice, he to pay double when he lost.

And then, of course—the knock at the door and——

"Good heavens! My husband."

The colonel had his coat on by this time. Fred (that was what she called him) was admitted. Business of seizing the colonel by the throat.

"I am guilty, Fred. I will leave you."

And she did leave, the colonel at her heels and she putting on her things as they climbed into a cab and started up Broadway. At Thirty-fifth street the colonel alighted to get a cigar. While he was gone the demure young woman slipped out of the cab and faded into the night.

It was when the Colonel came back to the cab that he missed the $6,000. It had been in a wallet in his inside coat pocket. He didn't drive to the police station, but went back to the hotel and told his troubles to the bartender.

"I don't care for the police," he said, "because I was touched once before in New York for $200 and it cost me $150 more to take the detectives around looking for it."

So the colonel armed himself with a pocket howitzer of about 72 caliber and paraded Broadway looking for the demure woman or Fred, or both.

He gave up the chase last night, and went home, still swearing that he would get 'em yet.

COWS ARE PAINTED GREEN BY STUDENTS

SCHENECTADY, Nov. 6.—To surprise of the residents of Schenectady who passed by Union college campus yesterday morning and to the consternation of President Raymond, several green cows were to be seen grazing on the grounds. Every one wiped his eyes and gazed a second time, but there was no mistake—the cows were a vivid green from their horns to their tails.

For several days past, much to the disgust of the students, the president's blooded Guernsey had been allowed to graze on the spacious college grounds. It is suggested that the students took this means to rid the campus of them. It had long been the custom to make the freshman class keep the college idol painted green, but this was the first time the artists had gone from still life to animal painting.

President Raymond and the other members of the faculty have investigated the matter, but no clue has been discovered to those guilty. In the meantime the cows have been removed to the pasture. President Raymond said today:

"Since this college began the faculty have kept cows and the students have done almost everything imaginable to the poor cows, from locking them in the chapel to putting them in the president's parlor, but this is the first time the cows have ever received a coat of paint."

CATAMOUNT GIVES FIGHT

Fierce Beast Takes Refuge on Mountain Side, but Is Finally Killed.

WINSTED, Conn., Nov. 6.—A catamount 19 inches high and weighing 35 pounds, gave Albert Cobb, Maurice Barnes and Hugh T. Mack of Norfolk, and their coon dogs, a great fight on Canaan Mountain last night.

The dogs treed the animal, which the hunters supposed was a large raccoon. Cobb climbed part way up the tree and shot at the animal, which sprang to the ground apparently unhurt, and took refuge under a ledge. Barnes, revolver in hand, started to crawl into the hole. The animal sprang at him, but a shot from the revolver sent it back into the hole.

While two of the men guarded the opening the third went to Norfolk for shotguns. Then Barnes fired volley after volley into the hole until the growling ceased.

In the morning the hunters ventured into the cleft in the rocks and found the catamount dead.

CANARY A SUICIDE; ITS VOICE FAILED

BLOOMFIELD, Nov. 6.—"Dick," a pet canary owned by Miss Florence Parkhill of Montgomery street, Bloomfield, deliberately committed suicide this afternoon by hanging.

The bird was ten years old, and until a few months ago was possessed of as sweet a voice as one of its species ever had. It trilled from morning until darkness set in at night, and delighted all who heard it.

Suddenly its tones began to waver, and its attempts to whistle were painful to behold. Finally Dick was unable to make a sound. Despondent over the loss, the bird thrust its head through the wires of its cage and swung away from the perch and thus ended its life.

The remains of Dick were placed in a little box and interred in a flower bed.

POLICE CHIEF IS SUSPENDED

Mayor Malone of Memphis Ousts O'Haver for Insubordination.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 6.—Mayor Malone today suspended Chief of Police George T. O'Haver for insubordination. Under the city charter the Mayor has the right to consign the police to various duties, providing that in his judgment trouble is feared. There has been much bitterness between local factions in the campaign for the State legislative ticket and Mayor Malone today made rearrangements for the police force. Vice-Mayor Walsh and Chief of Police O'Haver instructed the men to remain where they had been first assigned. The Mayor thereupon suspended the Chief and temporarily appointed Sergeant Hayes to act as Chief of Police.

It is said that the majority of the patrolmen took the assignments given out by O'Haver.

the difference between an optimist and a pessimist. My idea of the former is one who believes in the doctrine that "what is, is right," and of the latter—one who believes that "what is is wrong." Or in plain U. S., an optimist is a booster and a pessimist is a knocker. Well, if any man wants to become a confirmed optimist let him lunch at Lehnhardt's for a while. There's a satisfaction in the good refreshments you get at Lehn's that puts you at ease with the whole world and makes you take a roseate view of life. WILL WRECK OLD SCHOOL

Contractors Will Do Work for Brick They Remove From the Ruins.

At the meeting of the Board of Education last evening the committee on school houses and sites reported that they had engaged Childs and Arlett to wreck the Market-street school building.

Veitch Bros. are to do all necessary shoring so as to protect the woodwork, Childs and Arlett to pay them for the same and Childs and Arlett to receive as entire compensation for their work the brick that they remove from the building, the Board of Education to have all other material of value.

W. Morgan & Co. have contracted with the Board of Education for the installation of heating and ventilating the various schools.

On the recommendation of the committee the board ordered advertisements inserted for bids to be received last evening for the construction of the concrete walls of the Market-street school building. It seems that the secretary misunderstood the architect, the architect not having promised to have the plans completed until about this time. The committee therefore asked that the matter be left in the hands of the committee on school houses and sites, to advertise as soon as the plans and specifications are completed.

The report was adopted.

FOUR TIMES A BLUSHING BRIDE

Whole Quartette is Wedded to Same Woman Within Short Time.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Four husbands, successively ensnared by the wiles of "Miss" Augusta Bruning, have led her to the altar as a blushing bride within the last few years. All are living, and yesterday the three latest victims appeared against her in the Tombs police court, where she was arraigned on a charge of bigamy.

"Miss" Augusta is a cook, fat and fair, if not 40. She waived examination, and was held in $500 bail for the Grand Jury.

Her matrimonial career is not lacking in variety. First she married Henry Koehler in Waterbury, Conn. She soon tired of him, however, and came to New York, where she met Philip Feltzenberger, husband No. 2, whom she has "almost forgotten."

TELLS OF COURTSHIP.

"I was employed at 131 Avenue B," said Feltzenberger, in telling of his courtship. "One day this woman moved in, and I helped her put up a mirror. Looking into the glass, I saw that our faces were close together, and said, 'Doesn't that look lovely?' and she replied that it did. Then she suggested that we get married, so we did."

Otto Miller was No. 3. He lives at 206 East Thirteenth street. She entered his home as a cook and went out as a wife.

While still at the Miller home she met Frank Newman, and a short acquaintance culminated in marriage. Becoming suspicious of his wife's frequent absences from home, Newman followed her one day about two weeks ago and saw her meet Miller. Her arrest followed a conference of husbands Nos. 2, 3 and 4.

BRIGHT AND POPULAR PLAYS AT THE THEATERS

VIRGINIA SHELTON, who is making a hit at Ye Liberty this week.

J. M. BARRIE'S MASTERPIECE

"The Admirable Crichton" Will be Strong Attraction at Ye Liberty.

Editor TRIBUNE: From a street political meeting of socialists to the performance of James M. Barrie's play, "The Admirable Crichton," is not a long journey, both deal with the great class divide on which our modern social life exists, both receive the applause of the public when a sore spot on our social system is satarized, but perhaps the play as given by Bishop's players will make a better show of strength than the political body will show when the ballots are counted tonight. Reminds me of a "Frawley night" at the old Baldwin! I heard an old-timer remark, "Just as good, yes, better." The house, the scenery overbalances the account, then the play is one of the best. When Barrie wrote a short story called "The Inconsiderate Waiter," he heralded the waiter as human.

The "Admirable Crichton" is the "Inconsiderate Waiter" educated; he knows his place, he knows his powers. Wrecked and cast away on a South Sea isle he is the king; he shows weakness but once when he smiles for a second as the curtain falls in the last act. Bishop's players are at their best. Georgie Cooper's love scenes with Stevens are funny—fine comedy; and Miss Isabelle Fletcher's transition from the haughty society girl to the true woman in live with the butler for his own sake is a splendid piece of acting. Irene Outtrim, Madeline Maxwell, Frank Underwood, indeed all sustain their parts in a creditable manner, and Landers Stevens—I have not seen him play for years, the last time was as Mephisto in "Faust" at the old Dewey. I came in about the middle of the play. Mephisto was in h—l at this time; I was there also. Still I admired Stevens' pluck for staying with the Dewey Theater at a time when people had not so much prosperity to spend as they have today.

Since that time Stevens has changed. There was nothing crude about his work last night; he had a part very easy to over-do, but his was a finished performance—the "Admirable" from beginning to end.

"The "Admirable Crichton" will continue at Ye Liberty the balance of the week, and will doubtless attract a record-breaking patronage.

A. MACKAY SUTHERLAND.

MRS. CRAWLEY.

Mrs. Constance Crawley will present Shakespeare's comedy, "As You Like It," for a special matinee at Ye Liberty theater Friday afternoon, November 9. This is one of Miss Crawley's greatest Shakespearean roles and has won a great deal of praise from critics all over America. When last she played this part in San Francisco one of the papers remarked, "So free, so frank, so delicate, so maiden-modest was she that Mary Anderson and Henrietta Crossman slipped from your memory and you slapped your thigh crying that Rosalind was never so well done before."

James O'Donnell Bennett of the Chicago Record Herald said: "As far as the present generation of Rosalinds is concerned, she may fairly be said to be without a peer."

In the production of "As You Like It" Friday afternoon at Ye Liberty theater, Oakland, Mrs. Crawley promises a production of unusual care and has secured a very strong company to support her. Arthur Maude will play Orlando, and for Touchstone Mrs. Crawley has secured an English actor of note, Phillip Wetherall. The full caste is as follows: Duke, living in banishment, Walter Whipple; Frederick, his usurping brother, Henry Crosby; Amicus, Jacques, lords attending the banished Duke, Robert McKim and Robert Harrison; LeBeau, a courtier, Edward Lyon; Charles, a wrestler, David Allen; Oliver, Edward Coxen; Jacques and Orlando, sons of Sir Rowland De Bois, C. Baxter and Arthur Maude; Adam, an old man, Bert King; Touchstone, a clown, Phillip Wetherall; Sir Oliver Martext, a county vicar; Paul Henry; Corin and Silouis, shepherds, Wesley Clawson, Fred Ewald; William, a yokel, Sam Hume; Audrey, a country girl, Ann Scott; Phoebe, a shepherdess, Jennie Wilson; Celia, daughter of Duke Frederich, Virginia Wardour, and Rosalind, Constance Crawley.

MANSFELDT PIANO RECITAL.

The series of "Pop" concerts at Ye Liberty Playhouse will be inaugurated tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock by Hugo Mansfeldt, the well-known piano virtuoso, who will play an exceptionally interesting program, including Beethoven's beautiful "Moonlight" sonata. It will be interesting to see if, with our increased population, we can muster enough music-lovers to warrant Manager Greenbaum in maintaining this splendid series, which will include orchestral, vocal and miscellaneous concerts.

The price of general admission is fifty cents, and reserved seats may be secured for fifty cents, seventy-five cents and $1.

IDORA PARK.

"The Tar and the Tartar" entered its second week last night to a remarkably good house, and will evidently run for two weeks longer.

No better testimony to the growth of Oakland could be obtained than the records of this popular resort. Just think of a play, and an opera at that, running three weeks in a town that only a few years ago was looked upon as a one-night "stand."

The productions at Idora are well worthy the patronage that is being bestowed upon them, and they are really giving a better show than any high-priced company seen here for many years.

Even Sunday night the theater was crowded, notwithstanding the inclement weather.

Next Saturday night the University of California football team has secured the entire opera house. Only a few seats will be sold, and these may now be obtained at Sherman, Clay & Co.'s, at the rate of seventy-five cents each.

After the run of "The Tar and the Tartar" we are promised the first production outside of New York of "Don Caesar de Bazan" by Dellinger, a particularly high grade comic opera.

The new skaters' pavilion is being rapidly installed at a cost of nearly $50,000. Just watch Idora Park grow.

"THE COLLEGE WIDOW."

The football game in "The College Widow" is still, of course, the great scene in the unending chain of incidents, situations and climaxes which have made George Ade's best comedy a perpetual delight. To picture so truly the emotions of a grandstand full of enthusiastic "rooters" was a work of difficulty so successfully accomplished by Mr. Ade that it is justly regarded as the acme of stage realism. This scene requires the services of seventy people, and never fails to excite an audience to the most demonstrative approval. The sale of seats for "The College Widow" engagement at the Macdonough, beginning Tuesday night, has been very large. The engagement terminates Sunday, November 18. There will be matinees on Saturday and Sunday.

VIRGINIA SHELTON.

Miss Virginia Shelton, a clever Oakland girl, made her debut at Ye Liberty last night. She is an exceedingly pretty girl, reads her lines well and is possessed of a good stage presence.

VAUDEVILLE NOTES.

The people who love clean and pleasing vaudeville would do well to visit the Bell Theater this week, for that popular little playhouse has a vaudeville offering that is bright and interesting. Every act on the program has merit, and the initial performances given yesterday were well received.

There are four features on the program that are particularly good. Casey and LeClair present an Irish comedy sketch entitled "Irish Tenants," that is rich with humor. The success of the sketch results from its naturalness, and it is a success. Both Casey and LeClair are clever and they provoked many a laugh last evening. It is not a rough and ready Irish comedy, but a quiet sketch, with witty lines and not rough-house to please.

Burns, Victorine and Long have a ring acrobat act that is marvelous. They are as clever actors on the rings as ever appeared in this city. Tom and Frank Austin present a comedy juggling act of high merit. The Killie Deaves Company won plaudits at the three preformances yesterday with the clever sketch entitled, "Mrs. Wellington." It is well staged and correctly presented. It promises to please throughout the week.

Miss Marie St. Clair appears in a singing specialty, opening her act with the song, "If the Man in the Moon were a Coon." She answered three encores at the opening performance. Vernie R. McPherson scored another success with an illustrated song. Two reels of motion pictures, one of them particularly fine, complete the bill.

MANY COMING TO OAKLAND

Trains Arrive Loaded With Passengers Seeking Homes Here.

Seventy-one tourist cars of the Southern Pacific Co., loaded down with passengers, came into Oakland from the East on Sunday night last, and last night thirty-three more cars unloaded their cargo of human beings in this city. Everyone of these cars was loaded with passengers, there being no freight, baggage or mail, other than that usually carried by these trains.

Workingmen and their families and men with means comprised the various cargoes. These people come from all points in the East to make Oakland their home. Twice a week, from now on until an indefinite period, the Southern Pacific's tourist cars will come into Oakland unloading thousands of people.

It is needless to say, especially when these facts are cited, that Oakland is booming, and is growing perhaps faster than any other city in the United States. Every day, trains of both the Southern Pacific Company and the Santa Fe are unloading passengers in this city, and Oakland's population continues to grow tremendously.

CALIFORNIA'S TRIAL CRUISE

Big Ship to Make Fourth Attempt for Required Standardization.

VALLEJO, Nov. 6.—Word has been received at the Mare Island navy yard that the Union Iron Works will have the California ready for a fourth trial trip tomorrow, on which day the officers of the board will go down from Mare Island. Since the last attempt of the big ship to make the required standardization trial, on which occasion she broke down after only a three-minute run, the officers, who were from the Bremerton navy yard to attend, have been ordered to rejoin their ship, the Boston, at that station. The orders for the Boston to join the Chicago and other ships of the Pacific squadron in San Francisco harbor at once, however, will bring them here in time for the trial of Tuesday.

The repeated failures of the Boston to come up to requirements of her contract have detained the ships of the squadron here for much longer than was expected when they were ordered up from Santa Barbara. The fleet should have proceeded to Magdalena Bay for target practice some weeks ago, but will be forced to remain in San Francisco harbor until such time as the California's trial trip is completed. If the tests of Tuesday prove satisfactory the Chicago, Princeton, Boston and the torpedo destroyers Paul Jones and Preble will leave during the week for the south. They will be accompanied by the collier Saturn, which carries all the target gear and which is now at Mare Island. The squadron is to be joined by the gunboat Yorktown, which was placed in commission at Mare Island several weeks ago, taking the place of the Marblehead, and which is still at the navy yard, where the final preparations for her cruise are being made.

The board of naval officers which has been conducting the trial of the California has been ordered to conduct the trial of the South Dakota as well. This vessel will be ready for trial within the next two weeks, at which time the ships of the Pacific squadron will also compete.
